Debate Vote

Tories Vs. Tories

OTTAWA (CP) — The government drew some support from all four opposition parties Thursday night in defeating by 129 votes to 55 a Conservative motion to adjourn the flag debate.

Five Conservative MPs broke with their party and voted against the motion. They were Leon Balcer, the Quebec leader, R. G. L. Fairweather (Royal), Remi Paul (Berthier-Maskinonge-Delanaudiere), Gerard Girouard (Labelle) and Louis-Joseph Pigeon (Joliette-Assomption-Montcalm).

LIBERAL

The 101 Liberals voting against the adjournment were joined also by nine New Democrats, eight Creditistes and six Social Credit MPs.

The motion, introduced by C. R. Smallwood (PC—Battle River-Camrose), was endorsed by 54 Conservatives and Ralph Cowan (L—York-Humber), a Red Ensign supporter. (See also Page 2.)

Milestone 'Honor' Proposed

OTTAWA (UPI) — Creditiste deputy leader Gilles Giguere Thursday proposed the award of "systematic obstruction" to a Conservative member of parliament who brought the flag debate to a new milestone as the 100th member to speak on the issue.

Mr. Giguere suggested the mark was akin to the 100th goal by a National Hockey League player.

Harold Diefenbaker (PC—Kest) was the 100th speaker in the long debate.

"... I propose that we decorate the honorable member who is to be the 100th speaker in this subject, with the Order of Systematic Obstruction," said Mr. Giguere.

The House erupted in prolonged and derisive applause.

Buddhists Urge U.S. To Quit 'Dictator'

SAIGON (UPI) — South Viet Nam's powerful National Buddhist Association demanded Thursday that the United States withdraw its support of the month-old civilian government of Premier Tran Van Huong, because his regime had become a dictatorship.

"If the American government still wants to be trusted by the whole world and the Vietnamese people, then it should stop backing the bloodthirsty Tran Van Huong government right away, and not make any more excuses," the Buddhist community said.

Wider War On Horizon

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON (AP) — It looks here as if it will be only a matter of time before air raids are carried out against Communist Viet Cong infiltration routes outside South Viet Nam.

The anticipation here is the raids would be made by South Vietnamese Air Force planes, possibly with U.S. pilots aboard to accompany South Vietnamese crews, rather than U.S. Air Force planes.

DECISION MADE

Indications are the basic decision to go ahead with limited raids already has been made. Such raids are not likely to involve actual communities in North Viet Nam or the southern tongue of Laos, but would be against jungle supply depots in the mountains and valleys.

Statements from Washington have not clearly indicated raids are definitely planned. But the implication of plans for "urgent consultations" between U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor and South Vietnamese Premier Tran Van Huong is the U.S. is ready to back raids.

U.S. STATEMENTS

Certainly Washington statements are seen by Saigon officials as meaning just this. The South Viet Nam official news agency Thursday night lauded reported American plans for increased military support.

WITH AUTHORITY

Taylor is due back here this weekend after his consultations with President Johnson and top Washington officials. The feeling is he may be armed with authority to unleash South Viet Nam's increasingly powerful air force on targets outside South Viet Nam.

WARM RECEPTION

Whatever Taylor has in mind, he will get a warm reception from the Saigon government. The South Viet Nam news agency said.

"The Vietnamese government eagerly awaits Ambassador Taylor's imminent return to Viet Nam and is prepared to consider all measures to use the increased American aid."

City Divers Find Car Graveyard

VANCOUVER (CP) — Navy divers from Victoria have located an underwater graveyard for stolen cars at the base of a 250-foot cliff 12 miles north of here.

RCMP believe car thieves toppled the cars over the cliff for the thrill of seeing them splash into the Pacific.

RCMP called the navy after discovering tracks leading over the cliff edge.

Divers Wednesday found four and possibly five cars underwater.

To End UN Crisis

'RESCUE FUND' PRESSED

From UPI, CP

UNITED NATIONS — The 60-nation Afro-Asian group Thursday night backed the creation of a voluntary "rescue fund" which would avert a challenge to Russia's right to vote. There were indications the Soviet Union would support it.

The Afro-Asians approved at a caucus a set of principles which called for a moratorium for the duration of the present General Assembly session on the U.S.-Soviet confrontation over Soviet debts.

Canada's External Affairs Minister Paul Martin said he is confident the dispute over Russia's past debt to the U.N. will be settled by Christmas.

But he cautioned that long and difficult negotiations might be necessary to resolve underlying problems over control and financing of peace forces.

REDS WELING

U.S. official sources said Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, in discussing the issue with secretary of state Dean Rusk, had indicated a willingness to pay voluntarily into a "rescue fund" to meet the $120,000,000 deficit the United Nations is expected to face by Jan. 1.

Rusk was confident, on the basis of two talks with Gromyko, that Russia wants to find a way out of the political and financial crisis, the sources said. But they indicated that some sort of "make believe" must be found to enable Russia to pay up without losing face on its objection in principle to the peace-keeping assessments levied by the assembly.

Death Vote Coming

OTTAWA (UPI) — The cabinet, in an 11th hour move, decided Thursday to let convicted killer Georges Marcotte stay alive and announced Parliament next session will be given an opportunity for a "free vote" on whether capital punishment should be abolished in Canada.

Cabinet's decision to commute Marcotte's death sentence to life imprisonment followed one of the most bizarre murder cases in Canadian history.

Marcotte, 32-year-old former Montreal carpenter, was convicted of capital murder in the December, 1962, machine-gun slaying of one of two policemen in a bank holdup in St. Laurent, Que., near Montreal.

Since his conviction March 31, 1963, he has taken two appeals to the Quebec Court of Appeal and two to the Supreme Court of Canada. He has had three stays of execution.

Cabinet's move to commute his sentence to life in prison reversed two earlier decisions not to interfere with his execution.

Marcotte, convicted of the murder of Constable Claude Marneau, was scheduled to be hanged early today in Montreal's Bordeaux Jail. He also was charged but not tried for the capital murder of Constable Denis Brabant.

Cabinet's decision to let Parliament consider capital punishment at its next session means, in effect, no death penalty is likely to be carried out in Canada.

Fluoride Directive Irks Health Board

Defeated

Crackdown Followed Complaints

Health Minister Martin said Thursday night he issued the directive following "very serious complaints" to Agriculture Minister Richter.

"We decided action must be taken," Mr. Martin said in an interview. He said the directive would not prevent the board from handing out information "on request."

"But civil servants are not supposed to involve themselves in matters of controversy or matters leading up to a vote of the people, especially matters of a controversial nature as fluoridation," he said.

The city of Penticton will vote Dec. 12 on fluoridation of its water supply.

"The board can issue information," Mr. Martin said, "but they must not address meetings or take part in forums on the subject in the period leading up to a vote."

Mr. Martin had not seen a telegram sent him by the board which declared his directive was "political interference with preventive health programs."

PENTICTON (CP) — The South Okanagan Union Board of Health in a statement wired Thursday to Health Minister Martin voiced exception to a directive from Victoria to cease promoting the benefits of fluoridation.

The Victoria directive was received Tuesday and was aimed at personnel of the South Okanagan health unit who have been actively campaigning for the fluoridation of Penticton's domestic water supply.

A fluoridation plebiscite is being held here in conjunction with the municipal election Dec. 12.

Notice of the directive was made public by Agriculture Minister Richter, MLA for Similkameen.

Mr. Richter stated that he "very much regretted the participation of public health personnel in the current fluoridation plebiscite issue in the South Okanagan health unit." He said it is not the duty of civil servants to actively campaign for such issues, using the authority of government to sway voters.

The union board of health, in an emergency meeting later, reaffirmed the strong position that it has always maintained that fluoridation prevents tooth decay.

Anti-U.S. Riots

JAKARTA (Reuters) — Hundreds of Indonesian Communist Youth Front members clashed with police for nearly an hour today as they stormed the American cultural centre here.

The demonstrators were protesting the recent U.S.-Belgian rescue mission of foreign hostages held by rebel forces in the Congo.

Federal Sea Boss Quits; No Comment

MONTREAL (CP) — Mr. Justice Victor Dryer has resigned as chairman of the federal board of maritime trustees, it was learned Thursday night.

"I have no comment and I have not made any statement," Mr. Justice Dryer said when reached on his return to Montreal from Vancouver.

The board took over five maritime unions, including the Seafarers' International Union of Canada and fired SIU president Hal Banks.

Mr. Justice Dryer has opposed demands by House of Commons members that the trustees appear before a parliamentary committee to answer questions about their mandate.

Boom Shatters Test

WHITE SAND MISSILE RANGE, N.M. — A jet fighter pilot who accidentally broke the sound barrier at an altitude of only 500 feet provided a much tougher test for the Federal Aviation Agency's sonic boom program than the agency had planned at a demonstration Thursday.

The booming shock wave generated by the air force F-104 blew two 12 by 7 foot plate glass windows out of a test building erected to resemble a store front. Fifteen panes of glass also were shattered in a medium sized greenhouse.

The metal building in which the briefing was being held trembled to its foundations. A glass ash tray fell from a window ledge next to Bain and shattered on the concrete floor.

"I would guess that is in the area of 22 pounds per square foot," said Bain, referring to the force of pressure on a structure by which sonic booms are measured.

City Hears Two Bangs

Two loud bangs heard throughout Victoria shortly before 3 p.m. Thursday could have been caused by American or Canadian military aircraft taking part in a "maximum training effort," said a McChord Air Force Base official.

However, when instruments and recordings were checked, the wave was calculated at 40 pounds per square foot.

That is 10 pounds more than the 30-pound maximum the structures were to be subjected to later this month and a whopping 10 times the pressure recorded during tests over Oklahoma City.

"This isn't a question of the pilot deliberately doing this," Bain said. "He was trying to help us and he gave us an experience we ought to appreciate."

No population area ever would experience a boom like the one that hit White Sands Thursday, they said, because the pilot of a supersonic transport would never be supersonic under 40,000 feet.

"The supersonic transport would be 100 to 150 miles from the airport before acceleration to supersonic speed," Bain said.

500 Christmas Fund

Victim of London Blitz Will Be Helped by Gift

A 24-year-old woman, whose mental development was retarded as the result of the London blitz and whose foster father deserted her, is one of those who will be helped by The Daily Colonist 500 Fund.

The 500 Fund has been set up to receive contributions, not for any long-term solutions, but to make Christmas a treat and not a mockery for those in desperate need.

The victim of the bombs of the last war lives with her mother and four-year-old brother. The brother is a child of her mother's second marriage, the first husband, the bomb victim's father, having been killed in a marine accident. (See also Page 2.)

Your contribution may help these three — the deserted mother, her 24-year-old daughter and the four-year-old boy.

Donations to date:

Contributions to the fund last year meant a cash gift — no strings attached — of $24.75 to each of the 500 most needy.

This year one of your 500 gifts might go to the elderly woman from Alberta who came to the coast to retire with her husband four months ago. They found they could get by on their combined old age pension cheques.

But the husband died last month. The widow has not been here long enough to qualify for the additional $24 available to established residents in need.

In the anguish of her sorrow, in the depths of her need, your gift would show that someone cares, that she is in a community which extends warmth to newcomers.

Quebec Tory Joins In Plebiscite Call

OTTAWA (CP) — Conservative MP Theogene Ricard Thursday became the first member of the Quebec caucus to endorse his party's call for a national plebiscite on the flag issue.

Mr. Ricard, a member of the special Commons committee that recommended a design with a red maple leaf on a white ground flanked by red panels as the national flag, also said he wonders whether there was a "previous arrangement" among Liberal committee members to produce the recommendation.

He said his constituents in St. Hyacinthe-Bagot favor a plebiscite as the only way to produce a national flag without creating disunity.

Two Quebec Conservatives, Gerard Girouard (Labelle) and Louis-Joseph Pigeon (Joliette-Asbestos-Montcalm), said this week they are opposed to the party amendment.

REFER BACK

The Conservative amendment would refer the report back to committee with a recommendation that a plebiscite be held at the next general election.

Mr. Ricard said that during the committee hearings Liberal members argued that only a three-leaf flag is historically and heraldically correct.

Therefore the Liberals' vote for a single-leaf design "might lead to some wonder whether there was a previous arrangement even before the committee was established so the final outcome would be only one maple leaf."

His support for a plebiscite was out of respect for his constituents, he said. Letters sent to his constituents produced 264 replies in favor of a plebiscite and 155 against.

Mr. Ricard also said if the Conservative party had conducted no filibuster last summer the country would have the three-leaf flag proposed in the original government resolution.

James Ormiston (PC-Melville) said the government should not fear a plebiscite if it believes its judgment on the flag issue is correct.

NOT PROVED

Gene Rheaume (PC-Northwest Territories), noting he would not speak again in the flag debate, said a plebiscite is needed because the government has not proved its contention that the flag should be changed.

Mr. Rheaume also said he is opposed to approving a new flag to "placate an insecure and accident-prone prime minister" who otherwise would not have his place in history.

"PERVERSE SANTA"

Resuming after the dinner adjournment, Mr. Rheaume formed Mr. Pearson "a pervert and perverse Santa Claus" who will rob many Canadians of their cherished Red Ensign before Christmas and replace it with a bitter division that will remain for 100 Christmases to come.

BITTERNESS

Ken More (PC-Regina City) said the government is bringing in a new flag to please small groups in several provinces. But the maple leaf flag also would create other groups whose bitterness would affect Canadian progress for years to come.

Death Vote Due in House

ada until Parliament has voted on the question.

The last time capital punishment was debated in the Commons was in 1960 on a private member's bill proposed by Frank McGee of Toronto, former Progressive Conservative member for York-Scarborough.

During a two-day debate, 20 members supported abolition of the death penalty, 12 favored its retention and two were undecided. The bill was not voted on and debate was adjourned indefinitely.

The following year the former Conservative government established the present system of capital and non-capital murder. Under this system persons convicted of capital murder are subject to death by hanging. Capital murder is the premeditated kind of murder associated with crimes of violence.

PROVIDES SENTENCE

The system provides a mandatory sentence of life imprisonment for persons convicted of non-capital murder and for juveniles under 18 who are convicted of capital murder. Non-capital murder charges are laid in cases of impulsive and unpremeditated slayings.

A cabinet statement announcing Marcotte's death sentence has been committed to life imprisonment said Justice Minister Favreau referred to his colleagues Thursday a submission made to him late Wednesday by Yves Mayrand, counsel for Marcotte.

REPRIEVE

Mr. Mayrand saw Mr. Favreau after the office of Solicitor-General Watson MacNaught said Wednesday there would be no interference by cabinet in Marcotte's execution. Cabinet made a similar decision May 28 but later granted Marcotte a reprieve for a third time to allow him to take a second appeal to the Quebec Appeal Court and the Supreme Court of Canada.

Mr. Mayrand said he had given Mr. Favreau a letter he received from Jean-Paul Fournel, 40, main Crown witness at Marcotte's trial. After Marcotte's conviction for capital murder, Fournel was convicted of non-capital murder and sentenced to life imprisonment.

Mr. Mayrand said that Fournel in the letter offered new evidence in return for money. He said he later met Fournel in Quebec City but that Fournel had refused to give him the information he had referred to in the letter.

But the fact that he offered to sell new evidence made it dangerous to hang a man on his evidence," Mr. Mayrand said.

NEVER BEFORE
The cabinet statement said Mr. Mayrand's submission "contained new representations never made to the governor-in-council nor to the minister of justice before."

"The governor-in-council now has ordered that the sentence of death penalty in this case be commuted to a sentence of imprisonment for life," the statement said.

"Under the new parole regulations now enacted, Marcotte may not be released from imprisonment, except with leave of the governor-in-council."

FINAL SAY

These regulations provide the cabinet will have the final say on whether a convicted murderer should be granted parole. Previously, a person whose death sentence has been commuted to life imprisonment became eligible to be considered for parole in 10 years.

Marcotte's commutation means no convicted murderers have been executed in Canada since the present Liberal government took office in April, 1963. The present cabinet now has commuted the death sentences of nine convicted murderers.

Turkeys for Prizes

Toys at Bingo Boost 500 Fund

Another 500 Troop Carriers

One of the biggest mass participant events of the year comes off Tuesday, Dec. 8 in the Memorial Arena with the Kinamen Giant Christmas Bingo.

The fun starts at 8 p.m. for $8,500 in prizes, including a 1965 hardtop convertible.

Those who don't get the car or any of the other sensational prizes may still be talking turkey. The turkeys go as consolation prizes on tie-breaker games.

The turkeys will also go to those winning special draws. These will be held for those who bring a toy to the bingo, a toy which will be auctioned off at Maynard's, 733 Johnson Street.

When you bring your toy you will be given a numbered ticket, the stub of which goes in the Colonelist 500 Fund turkey draw barrel.

The toy goes on the auction block at 7:30 p.m. Friday, December 18. All money received will be turned over by Maynard's to the 500 Fund.

TO AUCTION

Your toy may actually be brought to Maynard's at any time.

Businessmen who sell toys and have a few slightly damaged ones they could donate for the Colonelist 500 Fund auction are asked by Maynard's to give them a call. Reliable Transfer will pick up the toys and deliver them free to Maynard's as their donation to the fund.

The tickets for the Kinamen giant bingo are now on sale at Eaton's and the Arena at $2 for 14 games in reserved seats. Increase your chances at prizes, bring a toy.

Patient's Story Best Way To Ease Fear of Operation

By JOSEPH MOLENER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: A recent column included a letter from a reader who was concerned over having a staples operation.

Two years ago I was faced with a similar decision. The thought of ear surgery frightened me, and I was four months pregnant. My obstetrician felt it was all right to go ahead.

The plan was to remove the staples and replace it with wire. I went to the hospital the night before. Drops were put in my ear and a dressing placed over it.

Next morning I was given an injection to make me relax. When taken to the operating room I was a bit woozy but fully aware of what was going on.

The doctor and nurse explained the way and wherefore of each thing they did. As the doctor clipped the staples bone the sensation was about like having a radiator pounding. At no time was I uncomfortable.

As soon as the wire was connected up, it was as though a speaker had been turned on, voices coming in loud and clear.

Now I hear beautifully and this is the word for it—the first time since my brain I hear the wind and the voices of children playing outside.

I urge this person not to hesitate to have the operation. The chances quoted to me were one in ten that it might not be successful. It's worth the gamble.

—MRS. M.T.

Modern ear surgery is, indeed, wonderful.

I caution readers not to expect that all hearing defects can be corrected by surgery, but an otologist (ear specialist) can tell within definite limits which cases cannot be benefited and which ones probably will.

Perhaps, Mrs. M.T., your description of your experience in the hospital will do more than anything I can say to take nervousness and fear out of the operation for others.

Dear Dr. Molner: It is normal for emphysema-coronary sufferers to have sleep interrupted by shortness of breath and chest distress. The condition usually subsides minutes after arising and taking a nitroglycerin tablet. I am 76 and need my sleep.

—R.T.G.

Shortness of breath from emphysema usually occurs while you are active and thus overtaxing your lung capacity. Hence I would suspect some other source at night. The coronary (heart) trouble is a logical possibility.

Nitroglycerin (and the specialized medications you mentioned) are excellent. Your doctor may want to alter the time at which you take them, day or night, to ward off this shortness of breath.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 15 and had my first period last year. I have not had another since. I am terribly worried, but I haven't told my mother. Does this mean when I marry I can never have children? —P.E.F.

It is not uncommon for young girls to have one period, then a lapse before periods resume. I do think, however, that you should tell your mother. Your weight, a lack of thyroid, or some other factor may need attention. This present condition will not affect your ability to have children.

Not Enough Rope, So He Skipped

Albert

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Albert H. Zabala, 31, won't go home again.

He said he was presented with a list of conditions under which his wife Adelaide, 27, would accept him and he decided it just wasn't worth it.

The ultimatum:

1. No drinking.
2. Hand over to me every cent you earn.
3. No stopping anywhere after work.
4. You are not to see your sister under any circumstances.
5. You are never to go out of your way to do favors for people, taking them here and there.
6. If we should happen to get company, it is not necessary to make a trip to buy beer.
7. You are to do what I ask you to do when I ask you.
8. You are not to set foot in any bar even if you are treated to a drink.
9. Do not lend anyone money even if it's just $2.
10. You are to let me cash your cheque or if you cash it I am to see it first.
11. You are never to tell me any lies; if you should, I will find out.
12. You are not to do any bragging of any kind to anybody.
13. If there is any business you have to take care of, you are to do it early and come straight home early.
14. If you have to get a haircut, you are to get one early and not at night like you said before; and it shouldn't take all day.

"15. You are to be on time always."

Brezhnev Charges Provocation by U.S.

MOSCOW (AP) — Leonid I. Brezhnev accused the United States Thursday of committing provocations against North Vietnam and said the Soviet Union "is prepared to render the necessary assistance."

The first secretary of the Soviet Communist party added: "Let the imperialists beware of playing with fire."

HITS CONGO ACTION

He also denounced last week's Belgian-American paratroop action in the Congo.

Brezhnev, Nikita Khrushchev's successor as Communist chief, repeated stands already taken by the Soviet government, without threatening direct Soviet intervention in either troubled area. "Necessary assistance" was left vague and undefined.

Brezhnev's 31-minute speech to a Czech - Soviet friendship rally in the Kremlin was more notable for what it did not contain.

His previous expressions of willingness to settle differences with the West were missing this time.

So were similar statements of Soviet foreign policy that have angered China, except for mentioning "peaceful coexistence," which Moscow advocates and Peking calls an illusion.

Ships Tally Loss As Storm Abates

HALIFAX, N.S. (UPI)—Ships and fishermen Thursday tallied up their losses in the aftermath of a wild Atlantic gale that left a trail of death, destruction and shipwreck.

Two lobster fishermen, who went missing in mountainous seas, were presumed dead by searchers who found their overturned fishing boat foundering in choppy waters off southwestern Nova Scotia.

The gales, which whipped seas into mountainous 40-foot waves that battered shorelines of Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick, gave the Maritime fishermen a severe raking.

Hardest hit were the Nova Scotia lobster fishermen, who placed some 250,000 lobster traps in shore waters just a day before the storm hit. The traps are worth from five to seven dollars each.

Strike by 23,500 Idles GM Plants

TORONTO (UPI)—General Motors assembly lines were shut down in Canada Thursday night, idled by 23,500 striking workers who want the same money, benefits and working conditions their American counterparts get.

Canada as Well

IT HAS BEEN generally assumed that the allied supreme commander, General Lyman L. Lemnitzer, was alluding to Britain alone when he said earlier this week that it was "disturbing" that some Atlantic powers are failing to meet their NATO military obligations.

This assumption may not be wholly correct. Indeed, it may well be that Ottawa politico-defence circles may now be suffering from the uncomfortable feeling that General Lemnitzer could just as easily have been referring to Canada as Great Britain in this regard.

Certainly since Mr. Paul Hellyer took over direction of the department of defence the problems confronting Canada's armed services in meeting their national and international commitments have not diminished. If anything, they have appreciably increased owing to the indecision of the minister in particular and the cabinet in general on all matters pertaining to defence.

Other than produce a White Paper on Defence which established a single commander over all three armed services, Mr. Hellyer has accomplished very little along positive practical lines in the 20 months he has held office as minister of national defence.

On the other hand he has proved himself a master of negative thinking and delayed action. After nearly two years at the helm of his department he has yet to decide on what kind of vessels he is going to provide for the navy, what kind of aircraft the RCAF will fly and what kind of weapons and equipment the army will have.

Mr. Hellyer may not be at all worried about this situation, but the rest of Canada should be. Had, for instance, the previous government's frigate-building program not been cancelled by him the RCN would now have been able to look for some replacement of their obsolescent warships in the fairly near future. Today, it would be safe to guess that Mr. Hellyer's dream-boat has not even got as far as the drawing board.

Had Mr. Hellyer not been so anxious to set up his new command hierarchy by creating the navy to a relatively minor role thus relegating a sense of insecurity within the service, it is quite likely that the lack of technical personnel which has now resulted in the tie-up of a number of RCN vessels could have been overcome.

Nor can it be overlooked that in the recent NATO convoy exercise in which all nations with naval commitments to the Atlantic Alliance took part, Canada's navy was strangely absent. Through lack of an official explanation of this, it can only be assumed that the RCN did not have the vessels or the manpower to take part in the operation. This, despite the fact that some 30 Canadian warships—approximately half of the RCN's total strength—are earmarked for NATO service.

From this alone it should be clearly evident that General Lemnitzer meant Canada just as much as Britain when he said that some Atlantic alliance members are failing to meet their NATO force goals.

How much longer can Canadians—both in the forces and out—afford to put up with Mr. Hellyer's incompetence and his bungling misdirection of our nation's defence affairs?

Negative Gambit

A UBC PROFESSOR has suggested that a few "baby coalitions" could defeat the Bennett regime at the next election if the opposition groups ganged up in certain ridings held by the Socreds. The voters in these areas could easily set him at naught, just as both opposition leaders reject his idea.

The NDP's leader, Mr. Strachan, could probably expect to be premier if such a "wistful hope"—as Liberal leader Mr. Perrault describes it—were to be a reality, but he rightly says this is not the way our political system works. Theoretically coalition should provide a non-partisan government, and in wartime it succeeds because all effort is directed to one aim and one aim only, but in the normal peacetime government it is a failure. Past example is ready to mind with the Liberal-Conservative coalition which preceded the Socreds in B.C., leading as Mr. Perrault points out to "just about the ruin of both these parties."

It was the ineffectiveness of this partnership, hampered by internal division of political policies, which made it easy for the Socreds to gain power. This was a coalition that impressed the public as a "do nothing" regime compared to the forceful "do plenty" character of the Bennett government. Another mangle of rival groups is not likely to have much appeal.

If the opposition parties at James Bay hope to unseat the present government they will have to do this on the basis of their separate merits.

A prime factor in a party's bid for popular favor is that it must stand for something, have positive policies and programs it considers better than those of its political opponents. Any gambit designed merely to throw an existing government out of office is a negative approach that promises nothing for the electorate.

Who Is Poor?

ONE OF THE biggest problems facing the Canadian Welfare Council in its projected study of poverty in Canada is said by its officials to be to define poverty.

Without questioning the general validity of the findings of the Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Administration in regard to rural poverty, it should be observed that the ARDA's acceptance of income standards by way of definition detracts from the usefulness of comparisons drawn from the figures. The administration used three measurements to determine who could be considered poor, including farm families with annual gross sales below $2,500, capital value of less than $25,000, and less than 25 days' outside work per year for the farmer; rural non-farm families with less than $3,000 income, and rural earners, neither working or living on farms, with less than $2,000 income.

Income, however, is only half the equation. Cost of living is the other half. And on this side of the picture there are many variables: size of families, food and housing expense, and transportation requirements, for a few.

"Who is poor?" the welfare council officials ask. "Is it the Newfoundlanders who, though earning $4,000 a year in Toronto, returns to Newfoundland because he says he can live better there on an income of $2,000?"

That is the question that must be asked in interpreting the differences seemingly shown by the ARDA between city and country and between one province and another. The CWC study, hopefully, will give an answer.

"I thought you said we could only afford to use the car for essential journeys."

Thinking Aloud

THE gaily oak has about ended its strip-tease act (a minor base of my life and one not likely to be duplicated in human practice at the McPherson Playhouse, I judge); the first touch of snow gave the town a Yuletide tinge (happily only in a brief span before choosing areas more receptive to its charms); the Christmas decorations are appearing; and so the season of the year is almost upon us.

I haven't yet heard a carol (there will be aural enough to come, though, for even the fondest of refrains grows stale by constant repetition); nor has Santa Claus in his red suit come under my purview (except on a magazine page).

But I have been deep in the Christmas card assignment.

Well, this isn't quite true (I unfairly leave 95 per cent of this chore to my better half), and maybe one shouldn't be mean a travail of love. The genre of the greeting is genuine, albeit the physical effort (not to speak of the addresses you mislay or can't remember) does take its toll of one's serenity.

The chap who first designed this pictorial card and set a fashion (which must warm the heart of the postmaster-general if not of his weary-footed postmen), could never guess what he wrought. He was "a painter of pretty words." I read, way back in 1844, and he'd have a fit if he knew how he has belabored us all nowadays.

I am not alone, I hope, in viewing Christmas cards as a mixed blessing. I can't be and listen to the many folk who think this annual task has become just a bit too, too much. (Funny how we all like to receive these greetings, but oh, the reciprocation.)

But the lights and trees and festive symbols which are coming into downtown focus send this mundane objection to the limbo it deserves, and one disallows into the humor appropriate to the occasion.

How could one walk the mall (half-mall, that is) between the canopies on Broad that bespeak the vintage quality of Christmas (and enable the motorist turned pedestrian to thumb a metaphorical nose at cars other than his own as he crosses the street without looking right and left) and not fall into the mood.

An imported beat at that. Saturn gave us the feasting, Germany and Scandinavia the holly branch, and a prince from Saxo-Coburg-Gotha the candles and presents we hang on household trees in the winking hour when innocents are asleep (Santa Claus not yet having come down the chimney.) And we of this modern age (urged by the commerce that sends money round and round), have assembled them together in the package we celebrate as Christmas (the secular half, of course), to the delight of all and sundry.

Even those with pen-weary fingers or backs broken by gaily oaks.

Aye, it's the Yuletide, THE season of the year when faces begin to break into smiles (naturally grim ones like yours truly's included), and benevolence makes us wish friends and strangers alike the best of human bounty (a temporary grace, alas, but how wonderful if it could be permanent), and the spirit softens and glows with the Christian ethos of our celebration.

May yours, as you address the cards and bake the cakes and buy the toys and baby dolls (letting me say so in advance lest I forget latter on), offer the prospect of happy hours of well-being.

Wise to Use Influence

ONCE AGAIN the Congo occupies the centre of the world stage. In this unfortunate country the troubles of Africa are found in their worst form. It will be a miracle if they do not spread to other new nations on that so-called "dark continent."

There is little to be gained from assessing blame for the present situation but it started when the Belgians gave the country independence prematurely; no doubt they believed the Congolese leaders were able to carry on but this was quickly proved wrong.

When anarchy threatened the new country appeals were made to the United Nations for a peace-keeping force and reluctantly one was raised and sent in. At one time about 20,000 men were serving in this force including a contingent of Canadians, one from Sweden and another from Ireland. These were the only white countries represented; the bulk of the troops came from African and Asian countries.

This force was able to restore a semblance of order but the costs ran as high as $10,000,000 per month. Communist nations and France would not contribute. Other nations, including Canada, made voluntary payments but the operation threatened the world organization with bankruptcy. Eventually the force was pulled out last summer.

This retreat was a tragedy—probably the greatest mistake the United Nations has made. Congolese leaders were still unable to run the country and rebellion broke out centred on Stanleyville in the northeastern part of the country. It was followed by the Red Chinese.

The next step was a surprising one. Ex-premier Tshombe of the Province of Katanga, who earlier had been forced out by the United Nations force, became prime minister of the whole country. This move was backed by Belgium and the United States.

In Katanga Tshombe had engaged white mercenaries to lead his troops and now he is using the same method with the Congolese army. This policy has antagonized most other African nations. It will be recalled that Tshombe was not allowed to join in a conference of African leaders held in Cairo just a few weeks ago.

For some time the rebels have been herding in white missionaries, merchants, planters and any others they could lay their hands on. These victims were held as hostages and threats were made that they would be executed if the Congolese army continued advancing.

Most of these people were Belgians and Americans and the governments of those countries could not be expected to sit back and let their nationals be butchered. Public opinion in the two countries would never stand for inaction under the circumstances.

We all know what happened next. American planes flew Belgium.

President Woodrow Wilson became the first U.S. president to leave the country while in office when he sailed for the Versailles Peace Conference, 46 years ago today—in 1918. The conference discussed the terms of peace following the termination of hostilities in the First World War and resulted in the signing of the Treaty of Versailles in June, 1919.

1950—The Australian colony of Queensland was established.

Canada's African Capabilities

gian paratroops to Stanleyville and other centres and most of the hostages were freed. However several dozen were murdered and there are certain to be more killings. At least two of those executed were Canadians.

Various other Canadians were included among the hostages and I believe the Canadian government could have taken a much more active part in trying to prevent the massacres.

After all we know or should have known conditions in the Congo far better than most countries. We had served for several years on the Congo committee of the United Nations. This gave us close contacts with Congolese of all shades of opinion and with the African nations, also serving on the committee.

In addition we alone of the three white countries represented had French-speaking personnel in large numbers. Also we have had a consul-general in the Congo since shortly after the country gained independence.

This was one place where Canada could well have taken a strong initiative. Instead our government did a bit of whining and sent the leader of the Social Credit party to Africa. His experience had been largely in Ethiopia and that seems to have been where he spent much of his time. Mr. Thompson is an estimable person but he was in no position to get results in the Congo.

We should never underestimate our opportunity to work work with new Africa nations. Eight of them are in the Commonwealth—Nigeria, Ghana, Sierra Leone, Tanzania, Uganda, Kenya, Malawi and Zambia. Some twenty others are French-speaking and we have friendly relations with most of them. As a commonwealth country herself Canada avoids the stigma which attaches to the old colonial powers.

For the next year an African will be president of the General Assembly. Africa is moving ahead rapidly in spite of tragedies such as those which are occurring in the Congo. Many more mistakes will be made and the types of government may not be to our liking—but the Africans are on the march.

We would be wise to use our influence and give our help to the end that this march will benefit mankind generally.

War Toys Are Pretend

WAR toys are all right to me because they are pretend and pretend guns cannot hurt anybody. When they talk about them on the TV they make them too realistic. G.I. Joe and Tommy seven guns, machine guns, rockets and army trucks are all right, except Tommy seven guns, because there is no such thing.

War is not a good thing because all people do is kill and bomb. Guns don't make people want another war, people just have guns to hurt with and pretend guns are all right to pretend to hurt with. War is a thing no one wants another of.

I would not want war toys because they are babyish.

Orderlies' Case

As hospital nursing orderlies we have been required to learn many procedures to ensure the proper treatment of those who have fought for us in several wars. By employing the correct way called "good technique" we can best carry out the doctor's orders, thus ensuring more quickly-cured patients, less pain, less discomfort, less disease and less deformity.

At the apex of a healing triangle stands the doctor who must be bold, strong, quick and decisive; yet gentle, kind and considerate. At the base of this triangle stands the nurse and the nursing orderly, who implement his orders with dispatch and kindness.

What is the duty of a doctor, of a nurse, of an orderly? It is their duty to make their patients happy, to help them in their fight back to health and strength, to consider each patient as his own brother or father, for he is in truth more to us; and for this reason he must come first in all things.

The scientific procedures we have learned do not make us glorified chauffeurs for the disposal of human waste materials.

We can only help the children in the Queen Alexandra Solarium for Crippled Children by public support.

The mobile refreshment stand will be at Goldstream again next year for the salmon run and we are looking forward to serving again at that time.

Our politicians in Ottawa are going to talk for some more on the flag question. Then they will bring up what anthem we are going to have.

Why not have one vote and settle both questions: Red Ensign and O Canada, or the maple leaf flag and the maple anthem which was our anthem at the start of the First World War.

C. W. BAKER, Milnes Landing.

Doomsday Gloom

The wheels of the political machine are grinding "democracy" to powder. Great Britain and the United States are nearly at full circle.

Now we watch with awe the doomsday gloom that is creeping over lovely Canada. No holds are being barred to bring about the crucifixion of the leader of the one once great party.

The leader of the present regime—federal—is apparently being hypnotized into believing that offering the Canadian people a piece of patchwork as a substitute for a flag will detract them sufficiently from their place in the world as a nation, and the need for continuing with the really historical symbol which denotes their heritage.

Provincially we have a knight—without armor—who seems to feel that only he, and his "chosen," can possibly lead Canada out of the political wilderness under a completely new label on the same old bundle of tricks—20th century style.

Cartels, corporations, and combines versus the human commodity, with the latter letting each other down to the great joy of the plunderers, is now the order of the day.

Canada is being torn to shreds as a country by a "shadow" force intent to rule through, and with the pious lullaby, age old, of the "end justifies the means."

Surely the people will wake up soon and rescue both themselves and their country from a threatening fragmentation comparable to oblivion.

To even sing "O Canada we stand on guard for thee" is becoming a mere mockery.

Nothing Too Small

By RICHARD JACKSON
Colonist Ottawa Bureau

DOWN Essex County way the other weekend, they opened the new Emeryville Post Office.

It was a pocket-edition-size, rural-type post office, worth maybe at most $20,000.

But down to open it, to cut the ribbon and make the speech came the long-time Liberal MP for Essex East, the honorable the secretary of state for external affairs, Paul Martin.

Kind of small political potatoes for such a big wheeler-dealer in statecraft?

Down Essex East way, there is nothing, but absolutely nothing—or at least nobody so far has discovered anything—that is too small for the personal attention of the honorable member.

The new Emeryville Post Office first came to more or less public attention along about last fall when Windsor Star parliamentary correspondent Maurice Jeffries was making his regular routine daily check on the state of the nation with his hometown MP, the Hon. Paul.

"Guess you're pretty busy," started out Mr. Jeffries solicitously. "What with Cyprus, the Columbia River Treaty, the foreign aid increase, questions in the House, VIPs coming in, and a lot of other things."

"Never mind that," interrupted Com Paul, "what I want to tell you is REALLY important—we're getting a nice brick veneer finish on that post office at Emeryville—how about that?"

How about that indeed!

Emeryville is little more than a four-corner kind of place where the federal public works department was hammering up a new wooden post office.

But the folks around Emeryville didn't think wood was good enough, when most other places got new post offices of brick, and neither did their honorable member.

So like the excellent MP he is—just about 30 years in the Commons worrying about the people of Essex East—he put Cyprus, the Columbia River Treaty, VIP visits, foreign aid matters and other less essential things aside, and addressed himself to the more serious business of doing something about that post office.

Putting a little cabinet ministerial heat on the public works department in places where it would do the most good and get the quickest action, he was able to arrange a switch in post office plans and specifications from wood to brick.

And so just the other weekend, he slipped down to Emeryville to open the edifice and incidentally check personally to make sure the public works department planners had done right by his constituents.

As Conservatives in that part of Western Ontario say, how are you going to beat a guy like Paul Martin?

From experience in the nine elections of the past 28 years, they're convinced it's not going to be easy.

The national capital has a large quota of cadets at Royal Military College, and when they come home on leave, they take quite a kiddy at other Canadian Services Colleges of Royal Royal and College Militaire Royal—from their civilian university contemporaries.

What they get from their undergrad friends on "Civvy Street" is what's known as the "Paul Hellyer Integration Salute." This is accorded by slapping the open palm against the forehead and rolling the eyes skyward in a frustrated what's-shit-use expression. Mr. Hellyer himself has even been so saluted, acknowledging with a good-natured wave and a grin.

Since putting his parliamentary good faith in question with his so-called "inside story" on the goings-on in the Commons flag committee, Vancouver Liberal Grand Deedman (pronounced Deekman) is being referred to by still-irritated Conservatives, New Dems, Socreds and Creditists as Grand Leachman (pronounced Leekman).

After the customary "Aw shut up," or "Sit down, stupid," rejoinders the Commons has got used to hearing these days. It was a pleasant change to hear something approaching the retort courteous.

To East Kootenay Liberal MP James Byrnes who makes a habit of interrupting when the Conservatives have the Commons floor, Alberta Tory MP Clifford Smallwood cracked:

"I could only buy you for what you're worth and sell you for what you're worth, I'd be on Easy Street."

Mr. Byrnes had no immediate comeback.

Build Stadium Now—or Be Sorry in '67

By IAN STREET

Any time now, with Canada's big 100th birthday party just over two years away, the clash of warring factions will fill the air.

The rows, for the most part, will be purely local, over what project centennial funds should be devoted to.

Greater Victoria, judging from past performances, will be no exception. But here there is more at stake.

The B.C. Centennial Committee, which speaks for the provincial government, wants to see as many communities as possible have a project and celebrations of their own.

But it does not want to get embroiled in any hassles over what these projects should be. So it was significant that Laurie Wallace, a veteran of the 1958 B.C. centenary wars, this week chose to speak out on the subject of stadium facilities in Greater Victoria.

He suggested, very tactfully, that local centennial planners give some consideration now to the need for a stadium accommodating 10,000 spectators or more.

Otherwise, Mr. Wallace sighed, Greater Victoria may find itself missing some of the biggest and best shows in 1967.

I can put it more bluntly. The chances are excellent that we will be missing out on much of the cream in 1967.

The reason is simple. Big shows cost a great deal of money to mount and must play to large audiences if they are to have a chance of breaking even.

Now I don't think for a moment that the federal and provincial governments are trying to run this birthday show at a profit.

Tens of millions of dollars of federal money, and that of the provinces, as well, will be poured out without hope of direct returns, to make this a show worthy of 100 years of Confederation.

The biggest spectacle, shows like the military tattoo that is being planned with a cast of up to 1,000, will play the largest centres of population only.

In most provinces, B.C. and Quebec being exceptions that spring most readily to mind, these large centres are also the provincial capitals. And this is in line with Ottawa's plans for laying stress on the centres of government.

U.S., Hungary To Heal Breach?

By LAJOS LEDERER from London

High-level talks between Hungary and the United States have started in Budapest, with good prospects of removing all political obstacles to reconciliation between the two countries.

Relations became strained eight years ago when in protest at the crushing of the revolt, Washington withdrew its head of mission for Budapest.

On the eve of the talks the Hungarians began dismantling the watch towers, mines and barbed wire on the Austro-Hungarian frontier which were erected in 1956 to prevent escapes.

Hungary has recently reestablished good relations with most West European countries. In the past two years Premier Janos Kadar has made many approaches to the U.S. to resume normal diplomatic relations.

The main problem of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, who refuses to leave the American legation—where he has lived since 1956—is no longer considered an obstacle, especially as the Vatican itself did not insist on a solution of the Mindszenty affair before it signed a concordat with Budapest two months ago.

NOTICE

Hearings of The Royal Commission

GASOLINE PRICE STRUCTURE

Public Inquiries Act R.S.B.C. 1960, Chap. 315

TAKE NOTICE that a hearing by the Royal Commission on Gasoline Price Structure will be held at Vancouver, B.C., on Wednesday, December 9th, 1964, at 10:30 a.m., in the Board Room, Hotel Vancouver.

Organizations, Associations, Corporations, Firms, Small Businesses and Individuals interested, who wish to present briefs or give testimony which they consider will be of assistance to the Commission, are invited to present themselves at the respective hearings. Briefs should be in the hands of the Secretary, addressed to the Secretary, Royal Commission on Gasoline Price Structure, 215 Central Bldg., 620 View Street, Victoria, B.C., at least fourteen days prior to advertised dates of hearings.

Further hearings will be scheduled early in 1965.

F. G. HART, Secretary.

They laughed
when they saw a Scot start to make gin.

He smiled.

In 1769, all London had a great laugh at the idea of a Scot trying to beat the English at their own game. Making gin.

But Alexander Gordon was a spirited man. With a line of spirited ancestors that reached clear back into Scottish antiquity.

And so, while London laughed, he smiled a knowing smile.

The rest is history—how a Scot made English gin famous the world over.

Today, Gordon's is the best-selling gin in the world. Because Gordon's descendants are as canny as he was.

Nobody but Gordon's makes Gordon's Gin, no matter where it's made—and it's made in nine different countries, including Canada.

The exact and original formula is never varied for any reason whatsoever. Ever.

And nobody but Gordon's can approve the finished gin for bottling.

Now, some people won't understand all this fuss about making good gin. But you understand, don't you? You like gin. So do we.

Let a Canadian 'Reign' Over Canada

By GEORGE HOGAN

The Queen's visit is now far enough in the past that some of its consequences can be viewed objectively. One of these, certainly, is that many Canadians are taking a new look at the nature of the monarchy itself.

This approach has been given added weight by an article written by Dr. John Conway of York University, in the Atlantic Monthly. This article is a profoundly perceptive analysis of the Canadian tradition and its differences with the American tradition.

I will not presume to summarize Dr. Conway's argument, but perhaps I can express his main idea in his own words:

"There is only one way to celebrate properly the centenary of Confederation. It is to call a constitutional conference, transfer sovereignty to the Canadian people—where it belongs—and on the basis of a new understanding between our different groups, assume the responsibilities of a fully adult nation. Only in this way will the problem of Canadian identity be resolved."

There is so much in Dr. Conway's analysis that I agree with that I wish I could go all the way with him in his conclusion. Even at that I can go some distance with him. Now that we are about to "repatriate" our constitution, it does seem to make sense that we should apply the same process specifically to the sovereignty upon which the whole constitutional structure rests.

But if I interpret him correctly, Dr. Conway seems to be saying that in the process the monarchy itself should be dispensed with. A republican form of government is implicit in the suggestion to "transfer sovereignty to the Canadian people." For the essential difference between a republic and a constitutional monarchy rests with the people and in the other with the Crown.

Dr. Conway, and a good many others, evidently believe that the monarchy cannot be made Canadian. Admittedly it is increasingly difficult to argue that under the present arrangement it is so.

Although she is Queen of Canada, Her Majesty, like all her predecessors, is universally regarded in this country not as Canadian, but as British. The fact that she is so regarded with admiration, respect and a good deal of affection, does not change the fact that she is so regarded. And this is scarcely surprising; for in every sense, British she certainly is.

This elementary geographic fact is what seems to make the concept of "the Queen of Canada" steadily more unreal to many Canadians as we progress from the achievement of national independence to the quest for national identity.

It is not difficult to imagine the Queen using her influence in some British political crisis to bring about a solution. This is one of the great values of a constitutional monarchy, which has often served Britain well. But it is I think difficult to believe that the Queen personally would ever exert, or Canadian politicians accept, any such influence in our affairs.

On the other hand, we do have, in the person of the governor-general, many of the realities of a working constitutional monarchy. Now that the governor-general is a Canadian, I think he could exert, and be accorded, a degree of influence in a political crisis such as Canadian politicians would not have accepted from one of his British predecessors.

He already performs most of the ceremonial functions of a head of state. His continuing presence, amidst the vicissitudes of democratic politics, gives us the major advantages of continuity and stability which a constitutional monarchy has over a republic.

But by definition, the governor-general, as the Queen's representative, is regarded as a second-stringer. The Queen is the real head of state. When she is in Canada, she opens parliament, she gives the royal assent, she performs the ceremonial duties. Because of this, the governor-general, who 99 per cent of the time is the actual head of state, does not have the prestige of a real head of state.

As a Conservative and a traditionalist I would like to see the monarchical principle retained in our system of government. One has only to look at our political, legal, military, and many other institutions to realize how deeply this principle is imbedded in our way of life. To replace it with a republic would involve a far greater adjustment than most of us realize.

But it would probably be easier to preserve the monarchical principle if it were given a clearly Canadian application. I don't think this can be done by trying to found a royal family of our own, or any such hot-house expedient. But perhaps it could be done through a typically improbable Canadian compromise, by investing real, rather than delegated, sovereignty in the governor-general.

If some such approach were adopted, the Queen would still be recognized as head of the Commonwealth, which in reality is how many Canadians think of her now. The monarchical principle would be retained in our government, but Canadianized.

Postage stamps Honor John F. Kennedy

NEW YORK, Dec. 4 (EN)—A very unusual series of large diamond-shaped postage stamps honoring John F. Kennedy was issued recently by the Kingdom of Venezuela. . . half the stamp bears a striking portrait of JFK with appropriate inscription—the top section depicts American space craft in flight . . . This very unusual set of three stamps sold out day of issue and are now quite scarce.

Because of the intense interest in JFK memorial stamps issued by foreign nations, Elmont has prepared a collection containing recently issued John F. Kennedy stamps from Colombia, Argentina, Chile, and Togo, plus the popular Yensen set mentioned above.

Interested collectors may obtain this extraordinary collection of 9 different stamps memorializing John F. Kennedy by sending $1.00 to Elmont Stamp Co., Queens Village 28, N.Y. Approvals and other offers included.

Corrections Man Predicts:

Canada Will End Capital Punishment

8 Stella Holmsted, Victoria
Friday, December 4, 1964

How to get a BETTER REST

When it's time to get up and you still feel tired—maybe here in the answer. Sometimes a slowing down in bodily function may result in a systemic condition which can cause backache and tired feeling. That's when Duff's Kidney Pills can be of help. Duff's stimulates the kidneys to help relieve this condition and to help relieve the backache and tired feeling. Soon you feel better and rest better. You can depend on Duff's.

OTTAWA (UPI) — The Canadian Corrections Association forecast Thursday that capital punishment in Canada would be ended in the not-too-distant future.

Public fears about the parole of possibly still-dangerous murderers should be eased, the association said, by the federal cabinet's assumption of responsibility for parole.

W. T. McGrath, executive secretary of the association, said: "The decrease in the number of executions over the past 14 years has actually been paralleled by a dramatic decline in the murder rate."

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — Roger, a goose with a taste for beer, may have to switch to Scotch. The goose acquired a taste for beer from his master, Edward Davis, who rented him to Harold Rose to promote the movie, Father Goose.

"This goose will drink what I drink," said Rose, who drinks only Scotch.

MARION, Ohio — Lawrence Leo Lawhun, 20, is keeping in touch by letter with the former Helene Sabie, 17, his bride of less than two weeks. Lawhun is in jail here, his bride at nearby Upper Sandusky, for giving false statements in applying for a marriage licence and refusing to name a woman who helped them get the licence.

WASHINGTON — In a ceremony here Capt. Roger H. C. Donlon of Saugerties, N.Y., will receive the Congressional Medal of Honor for "heroic actions" during a July attack on a Viet Nam base.

GLASGOW — Mrs. Catherine Leach, 35, has been transferred from the city morgue to Glasgow's Royal Infirmary. Once certified dead, she was about to be moved from a morgue slab when an ambulance man noticed a quiver in her neck. He applied oxygen and detected a pulse beat.

LONDON — The visit by Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip to Sudan, planned for February, may be called off, sources here say.

LAARBRUCH, West Germany — Prince Philip piloted a new twin-engine Andover plane while on a two-day tour of RAF bases in West Germany.

DUESSELDORF, Germany — "I've waited 22 years for this moment and I'd have known them anywhere," a Canadian witness told a West German war crimes court. Then Oskar Strawczynski, 58, of Montreal, marched briskly along a row of 10 ex-Nazi SS men and triumphantly identified Kurt Franz, former deputy commandant of Treblinka death camp, and August Wilhelm Miete, the Treblinka guard known to inmates as the "angel of death."

KNOWVILLE, Tenn. — E. G. Sharp, the father of seven, became a grandfather Wednesday night at the age of 32. Sharp's daughter, Mrs. Kyle Ray Hutcheson, 16, gave birth to a daughter, Sharp, a plumbing and electrical contractor, said he was married at 14. Mrs. Sharp declined to give her age.

BOSTON — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., took his first steps Thursday since suffering a broken back in a plane crash nearly six months ago.

PORTLAND — A circuit court jury says Mrs. Helen Carolyn Dayton, 41, was guilty of killing her husband by running him down with a car. The penalty will be life imprisonment with no parole possible for 10 years.

Peterson Decries Social Help

B.C.'s public school system cannot assume responsibility for social work, Education Minister Peterson said Thursday.

He was commenting on requests by the B.C. Parent-Teacher Federation for inclusion of qualified personnel on school staffs for "emotional counselling."

"The danger inherent in this approach is that schools may be asked to assume responsibility for social work and everything else," Mr. Peterson said. "Our main job in the schools must remain education."

The minister said school authorities try to work with welfare agencies whenever possible.

Mr. Peterson said, however, that he agrees with the federation's opinion that there should be greater emphasis on counselling and guidance for all students.

Russians Plan North Pipeline

LONDON (Reuters) — The Soviet Union will build the northernmost gas pipeline in the world next year in the Soviet Arctic where the temperature drops to 60 degrees below zero and stays below freezing 250 days a year, the news agency Tass reported Thursday.

VANCOUVER — Ronald Hugh McDonald, 37, was freed by an appeal court Thursday after serving less than two months of a one-year term for breaking the leg of a 13-year-old boy, Phillip Pearce.

Mr. Justice A. E. Lord of B.C. appeal court said he was impressed with the background of the tugboat skipper, and reduced his sentence to the time already served.

McDonald said the boy used profane language to his 11-year-old daughter.

Canadian National's transcontinental passenger train, the Panorama, will arrive in Vancouver next Wednesday evening with an unusual load.

Attached to the train will be a special car containing a rudder stem for the Sa Clearon, in drydock at Victoria, awaiting repairs.

On a run from Victoria to almost 10,000 miles.

Flight Record

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Air Force claimed a new endurance record for jet fighter planes after four F4C Phantoms completed an 18-hour flight of load lumber in the Fraser River, the Clearon ran aground, damaging her propeller and rudder stem.

A new stem, weighing 8,512 pounds, 20 feet over-all length, has been cast in Sunderland and leaves by BOAC airfreight from Manchester Sunday, arriving Montreal the same morning.

CN's Panorama leaving Montreal that night is due in Vancouver Wednesday evening. The stem will be transferred by truck and ferry to Victoria to arrive about noon the following day.

Libel Scare

Students Plan Defence

By JUDITH BAINES

University of Victoria student council post of publications director, recently vacated by Bob Bell, has been filled by Peter Bower.

Mr. Bower, a former editor of the student newspaper, the Martlet, won the post by acclamation.

He is investigating the possibility of setting up a separate publishing department which could take the responsibility for libel cases.

PART OF THE JOB

"In the publications department, libel cases are part of the job," he said.

"This year we have been threatened by at least three," he added.

Mr. Bell resigned as publications director over the temporary confiscation of a campus magazine, the Centurion, which student council members feared contained libelous material.

STAFF PROTEST

The Centurion staff also resigned in protest of the confiscation. Mr. Bower said he thought the magazine would not be revived, and said, "If it is dead, I hope a new magazine will take its place."

A new publication, the Tryste, is due to appear within the next week.

Lawyers Lose Case

OTTAWA (CP)—Magistrate C. Edward Carter dismissed Thursday a charge of impersonating a lawyer against Ed Murphy, radio news reporter in the Parliamentary Press Gallery.

The Law Society of Upper Canada had charged that Mr. Murphy passed himself off as a lawyer in gaining access to Ottawa police cells Aug. 24 to record on tape an interview with a prisoner.

NO IDENTIFICATION

Mr. Murphy, who works for several radio stations including CFRA Ottawa and CKNW New Westminster, B.C., testified he was mistaken for a lawyer by police without ever identifying himself as such when he visited the cellblock.

He obtained a tape-recorded interview with David Cowlishaw while the latter was in city cells following his arrest for throwing a carton of beef blood on the floor of the House of Commons.

"AMAZED"

Mr. Murphy said he was "simply amazed" at how easily he got to see Cowlishaw. He said he was not asked for identification, nor required to open his briefcase.

Contributions may be sent to the Freeman F. King Scholarship Fund care of Dr. John Chapman, Provincial Museum and official receipts will be issued for income tax purposes.

Murder-Suicide Claims Six

DETROIT (AP)—Police said a father apparently shot to death his wife, three of his four small children and a teen-age girl, then himself Thursday.

Detectives said they found the bodies of the six in James Bergen's home. Another child was wounded critically.

Bergen, 28, called relatives to tell them he had killed "my wife and children," police said.

They found Bergen dead of a gunshot wound in the head, slumped on his living room floor near a telephone.

Cigarette Sales Rally in Canada

CALGARY (CP)—Cigarette sales in western Canada, hit hard earlier this year by the United States surgeon-general's report linking cigarettes with cancer, have surged back to a point where 1964 sales may exceed 1963 sales, Calgary tobacco agents say.

Banks Heed Johnson

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

The powerful grip on the U.S. economy held by the president of that country was shown this week, when President Johnson asked the nation's banks not to raise their prime interest rates, despite the fact they had reasonable grounds for doing so. His appeal to the bankers was based on the grounds that an increase in bank interest rates might slow down the economy.

One of the few banks to have made such a raise immediately rescinded its decision. This was the First National Bank of Boston, which had raised its prime rate from 4½ per cent to 4 per cent.

The Boston bank said it did this in deference to the wishes of the president.

The move towards higher interest rates in the U.S. was motivated last week by the Federal Reserve Board, which increased its rediscount rate from 3½ per cent to 4 per cent. This, however, was intended as a partial offset to the bigger rise in the Bank of England rate—from 5 to 7 per cent—and was clearly intended for the external rather than the domestic money markets.

While at least one bank—in Georgia—has not accepted the president's suggestion, there was no doubt that Mr. Johnson's plea was taken by Wall Street as a clear indicator that higher interest rates are not going to be allowed to interfere with the expansion of the economy.

The result was a distinctly more optimistic tone in the New York Stock Exchange prices, and a similar restoration of confidence in Canadian market circles as well.

In the opinion of most investment people the thing which could most surely bring the current bull market to an end would be a tightening of the money supply and attendant increases in borrowing rates. This danger now appears temporarily averted.

POWER RATES DROP

British Columbia's Peace River power scheme will not be distributing power for another three or four years, but already it is making an impact on northern electric rates.

Canadian Utilities Limited has announced it will reduce its commercial and residential power rates throughout the southern part of Alberta's Peace River area immediately.

Commercial rates are down an average of 33 per cent and residential rates are down an average of 7 per cent.

SALES INCREASED

In a preliminary unaudited report of its accounts for the year ended Oct. 31, Slater Steel Industries Ltd. says its net income for the year was $1,528,500 compared with $1,101,943 in the previous year.

Sales rose to $24,635,417 from $20,067,553.

ALMETCO BOUGHT

Incorporation Breaking B.C. Records

Incorporation of new companies in B.C. continues to break all records in 1964, Attorney-General Bonner said Thursday.

"The astonishing rate of company incorporations noted in the earlier part of this year continues without let-up," he said. The 11-month total for incorporations is 4,252 compared with 3,610 in the same period last year.

Last month there were 329 new B.C. companies established, compared with 269 in 1963. Extra-provincial companies totalled 29, compared with 23 in November, 1963, and there were 27 new societies incorporated.

UBC Man To Probe Rail Fight

Dr. G. Neil Perry, vice-president of the University of British Columbia, has been appointed head of an inquiry into labor dispute between the Pacific Great Eastern Railway and the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

Labor Minister Leslie Peterson announced the appointment late Thursday and said the inquiry would be expedited despite the fact that Dr. Perry is now engaged in trying to settle a dispute with the towboat industry for the federal government.

The PGE employees are disputing rates of pay, rules and regulations and hours of work, the minister said.

Mr. Peterson said strike action by the trainmen was imminent last weekend when he proposed the appointment of an industrial commission to inquire into the dispute. Trainmen agreed not to strike until the findings of the inquiry are known.

HONOLULU (AP)—An earthquake centred on Hawaii Island shook parts of the main island of Oahu Thursday, including sections of Waikiki Beach and downtown Honolulu. No damage was reported.

Christmas Gift to Motorists Will Have to Wait a Year

It's unlikely that the city will give motorists a Christmas gift of two days' free parking this year—but it might in 1965.

Ald. Robert Baird made the suggestion at a committee meeting on Thursday but received little support from other members.

"Let's look at the idea and, perhaps, put it into effect in 1965," suggested Mayor Wilson.

"I think there's too much of that sort of thing—delay," said Ald. Baird. "I think it's good for us to step in and make quick decisions. Our job as aldermen is to get things done."

The Chamber of Commerce will be sounded out on the plan.

As will the Downtown Businessmen's Association and the merchants' organizations representing the 700 blocks on Yates and Fort.

Certainly am—they're comfortable—don't hurt my feet, and they're cheap. And anyway, I'm an individualist.

Well, I'm an individualist too, a practical individualist—I drive a Studebaker.

Isn't that going a little too far—driving a Studebaker!

Have you ever driven a Studebaker?

Haven't the nerve!

You've really missed something—you who's supposed to be an individualist. Look at my Studebaker down there. Under that heavy gauge steel roof is a protective steel beam for extra safety. A real frame with bolt-on body construction—never loosens up—is free of squeaks and rattles.

Yeah, but what about comfort—I LIKE COMFORT.

There's more room in my Studey than any car I can think of. I wear my hat with inches to spare. The seats are chair high—I'm never tired. It's got flat floors—I never trip, and they're easy to clean. But you're an individualist, so don't take my word for it or anyone else's. Try Studebaker for yourself. ①

Papal cheque for India's needy

'Are We Not One?'

Pope Bids For Unity

BOMBAY (AP)—Pope Paul VI joined Thursday in a fraternal and unprecedented session with non-Christian leaders, quoted Hindu scripture, cited a Hindu prayer and commended its use.

"We must come closer together," he told a gathering of about a dozen Moslem imams, Hindu swamis and guiding teachers of other Oriental faiths—Buddhists, Jains, Sikhs and Zoroastrian Parsees.

It was a dramatic and personal overture by the head of the Roman Catholic Church to advance its efforts for fuller concourse with all mankind, of various cultures, races and creeds.

Gazing about at the assembled Eastern spiritual leaders, garbed variously in white tunics, blue-and-red embroidered tunics and turbans, the Pope asked:

"Are we not all one in this struggle for a better world, in this effort to make available to all people those goods that are needed to fulfill their human destiny and to live lives worthy of the children of God?"

The pontiff said that all men must begin "to build the common future of the human race."

MEETINGS

It was the second day in India for the pope, welcomed here in a massive outpouring of people and warmth, and he spent the day in a series of meetings with various groups.

Although expressing appreciation for the Eastern religions, the pope also extolled Christ and His teachings.

Then the pope recited this Hindu prayer: "From the unreal lead me to the real. From darkness lead me to the light. From death lead me to immortality."

DIFFERENT AIM

The Vatican last spring set up a new secretariat of relations with non-Christian religions. Its aim, to further practical collaboration and understanding with them, differs from the movement of the Roman Catholic Church and other Christians for actual unity.

One period of the pope's day was spent with leaders of non-Roman Catholic Christians in India—Protestant, Orthodox and Anglican Church men—whom the Pope addressed as "my dear friends in Christ."

GIFT TO POOR

The 67-year-old pontiff also rode through the city again, his route thronged with cheering crowds, for a 30-minute call on President Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan of India.

The Pope gave the president $50,000 for the poor of India. He was to have distributed this sum in Bombay slums but the visit was cancelled because of opposition for Hindu extremists. They saw it as a bribe to get the poor to embrace Christianity.

Chinese Hospital Reopens Saturday

Health Minister Martin will officially reopen the Chinese Hospital, 535 Herald Street, at 2 p.m. Saturday.

The 73-year-old institution was closed last June for extensive renovations, including an addition to the kitchen and construction of a laundry room.

"Originally an extension was planned, but such was thought not necessary in light of the changing needs of the community," Jack Lee said on behalf of the Chinese Benevolent Association.

The new generation of Chinese is quite content with the large hospitals provided for the community in general.

Mr. Lee said the Chinese Hospital is more like a nursing home. "Qualified nurses, under the hospital's medical superintendent, Dr. J. L. M. Whitbread, include both those who are oriental and those who are occidental."

The hospital renovations were made possible by a bequest from the accumulated life savings of Dong Gong, a laborer, plus donations from the Chinatown Lions Club and other citizens and organizations.

In Wage Fight

Orderlies Win Support

Victoria Labor Council voted Wednesday to support striking orderlies at Veterans' Hospital in their demand for more money.

The council will request the Canadian Labor Congress to make representations to the federal government "to reopen negotiations so that conditions of employment may be fair and equitable."

URGE AFFILIATION

The council will also ask the orderlies to have their association affiliated to the CLC and hence to federations of labor and labor councils.

The orderlies have stated their starting salary is $3.00 a month compared to $3.19 at St. Joseph's which is a union hospital.

Peers

Annapolis Captain Former Victorian

Named commanding officer of Canada's newest destroyer-escort HMCS Annapolis is former Victorian Cmdr. Robert C. K. Peers, 37, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Peers, 2428 Windsor.

He will assume his appointment when Annapolis is commissioned at Halifax Shipyards Limited Dec. 19.

A former Oak Bay High School student, Cmdr. Peers started his navy career as a cadet in August, 1944 at Royal Roads.

After training afloat and ashore with the RN he returned to the RCN and served in the destroyer-escort HMCS Sioux through two tours of duty in the Korean War theatre. He became a specialist in torpedo and anti-submarine warfare.

He has since commanded minesweepers, and served as liaison officer with the U.S. Navy. Before his most recent appointment he was assistant director of international naval plans at naval headquarters in Ottawa.

HMCS Annapolis is the 20th post-war destroyer-escort by the RCN in the postwar construction program. It perpetuates the name of a Second World War destroyer which served escort duties in the western Atlantic from 1940 to 1944.

A former Oak Bay High School student, Cmdr. Peers started his navy career as a cadet in August, 1944 at Royal Roads.

RN TRAINING

Foster Meeting Draws 26 'Parents'

Despite the nearness of the Christmas season 26 prospective foster parents found time Thursday night to attend the Family and Children's Service monthly meeting.

The meetings give social workers and prospective foster parents the chance to discuss what is involved in taking children into their homes.

Social worker Mrs. Faye

MacBride spoke on her work with families, and Mrs. Harold Barberg told of her experiences as a foster parent.

Also addressing the group were social workers Mrs. Edith Frankham and Mrs. B. Levitz Packford.

The service is always looking for foster parents, Mrs. Packford said, and is glad to be asked for information.

During November

Fewer Patients For Emergency

Emergency wards in Victoria's two major hospitals treated 2,384 persons during November. The figure is a decrease of 401 from the month of October and 310 over September. At St. Joseph's Hospital, 1,157 persons were treated, and 148 of them were admitted for further treatment.

Royal Jubilee treated a total of 1,227.

Antigonish Still at Sea

Arrival of HMCS Antigonish, due to return today from cruises off the west coast, has been postponed 48 hours because of a "continuation of operational commitments," a navy spokesman said Thursday night.

Left-Wingers Needed For British Soccer

LONDON (Reuters)—The recall of Bobby Charlton to outside-left in the England team to play Holland in Amsterdam next Wednesday again spotlights England's problem position.

Charlton's return is in itself no surprise. What is a little odd is that Charlton, in brilliant form for Manchester United at inside - forward, should be brought back on the left wing.

He is the third England outside-left in five matches this season. Peter Thompson played against Northern Ireland. Alf Ramsey believes he is a far better player on the right flank, though his team Liverpool plays him on the left.

Alan Hinton, who appeared in one international two years ago in an earlier effort to solve the problem, played against Belgium and Wales.

Now Charlton is back. Since the Second World War 26 different players have worn the England No. 11 shirt. Only the two inside-forward positions have claimed a greater number of players but their total is boosted by the fact that several players, for example Ivor Broadis, Johnny Haynes and Jimmy Greaves, have played at both inside-right and inside-left.

POINT OF INTEREST

It is interesting that Charlton (42 games at outside-left) and Tom Finney (32) who have made most appearances in this position are not natural outside-lefts. Charlton prefers inside-forward and Finney won fame first as an outside-right and many believe that he would have been an even bigger assist to his country as an inside-or centre-forward.

The scarcity of left-wingers is not confined to the England team but occurs at all levels in England. Don Rogers, the talented Swindon winger, for instance is a constant target for English League first - division scouts.

Bert Head, manager of Swindon, a struggling second-division club, has turned down bids of more than £30,000 from Newcastle and Chelsea for him. Sheffield Wednesday and Spurs are other clubs said to be interested. Yet Rogers is only 19.

Taylor Wins Top Racing Post

NEW YORK (CP)—E. P. Taylor, owner of Toronto, owner of Kentucky Derby winner Northern Dancer, was elected president of the Thoroughbred Racing Associations at a meeting here Thursday. He is the first Canadian to hold the position.

Taylor succeeds Robert P. Strub, president of Santa Anita course near Los Angeles.

The TRA, formed in 1942 to provide thoroughbred racing with direction, purpose, control and unity of effort, is an association of 50 American and Canadian racetracks. Included are the Woodbine and Greenwood layouts in Toronto, Fort Erie, Ont., and Assiniboia Downs in Winnipeg.

Taylor also is chairman of

The Jockey Club, Limited, which controls Woodbine, Greenwood and Fort Erie tracks.

Taylor, millionaire sportsman-industrialist, has been a driving force behind The Jockey Club for a dozen years.

Oom-pa Carols? 'Pah!' Says City

NUERNBERG (AP) — No Christmas carols will be played for the patients of local hospitals by brass bands, city officials ruled Thursday. The city fathers said the band music was too piercing and disturbed the patients. "Absurd," replied the German Protestant Church. "We have played for the patients for 50 years and have never had any complaint."

Opposition Leaders Reject B.C. Coalition Proposal

Opposition party leaders Thursday flatly rejected a proposal by a University of British Columbia political scientist that this province needs coalition candidates.

Prof. Donald Smiley said he was anti-Social Credit, that the present government is anti-democratic and neither enlightened nor generous in its welfare and education policies.

The answer lies, he said, in opposition parties joining forces to run an individual candidate in each of the eight ridings where Socreds won a minority last year.

Premier Bennett commented: "That's just a stupid statement because our welfare rates are the highest in Canada. In our spending on education we lead the nation."

The premier said he presumed Prof. Smiley was a leftist-liberal, and said various combinations of leftists had been trying to unseat Social Credit since 1952.

Social Credit would defeat leftist groups any time in a straight fight, Premier Bennett said, and he welcomed such a move.

Opposition Leader Robert Strachan said for the NDP: "I want no part of coalition, merger, deals, or anything."

"The three other parties belong in the same boat. The only alternative to all of them is the NDP. Only one party can govern, and the miserable experience with the coalition of which Mr. Bennett was a member proved that clearly."

Liberal leader Ray Perrault said the Liberal premier Duff Pattullo warned in 1941 that coalition would put the Liberals out of power for 25 years. It did.

And it was one thing to talk about moving pieces on a chess board, but quite another to do it in practice. When party workers strove to keep an effective organization going for years, head office didn't come in and say no candidate would run in the riding.

This would wreck morale, said Mr. Perrault.

Davis-Fulton, B.C. leader of the Progressive Conservative party, said the Vancouver professor's proposal was interesting in the purely statistic sense, "but we are dealing in politics not statistics."

CMA Meeting

Bennett Plugs B.C. Bank

Premier Bennett took the opportunity Thursday when meeting with a delegation from the Canadian Manufacturers' Association to put in a plug for the Bank of B.C.

R. S. S. Wilson, of Vancouver, vice-chairman of the B.C. Division of CMA, said following yesterday's meeting with the cabinet that the premier had noted there was no mention in the brief of the application now before the Senate for a chartered bank with headquarters in Vancouver.

NO STAND

"We told him that our association as such had taken no stand on bank issue," the CMA spokesman said. "The premier told us he thought all businessmen in the province should support the bid to set up a chartered bank here."

Premier Bennett also asked the group to support the government in its campaign to obtain lower freight rates for B.C.

Gas storage in highly dangerous area

'Highly Dangerous Area'

If Oil Dump Caught Fire How Would They Fight It?

If a fire ever broke out in the oil and gasoline tank storage farm on the shores of the Inner Harbor, firemen would have a grim time getting in a position to control it.

This location in the industrial reserve is "a highly dangerous area," said a letter to the fire warden's committee from Fire Chief John Abbott and, because of the lack of access roads, very difficult to get at.

City manager Dennis Young said the chief was alarmed that he might not be able to get downwind from a fire if it started. Roads were such that it would be impossible to get equipment to effective control points.

More and more gasoline and oil was being stored in tanks in this area every year and the situation was becoming potentially more dangerous.

Roads would be expensive to build to the west side of the tank farm as they would require rock-blasting, fill and a possible bridge or underpass at Esquimalt Road.

The whole question of access roads to the area will be turned over to the city engineer's department for investigation and a report.

The B.C. public school system cannot assume responsibility for social work, Education Minister Leslie Peterson said Thursday.

He was commenting on requests from B.C. Parent Teacher Federation for qualified personnel to be added to school staffs for "emotional counselling."

"The danger that is inherent in this approach," Mr. Peterson said, "is that schools may be asked to resume responsibility for social work and everything else. Our main job in the schools must remain education."

The minister said school authorities try to work with welfare agencies wherever possible but added he was opposed to any attempt "to put on our shoulders so much that we are not able to do our own job."

The other danger that exists, Mr. Peterson said, was that employment of outside specialists in schools would take "too much responsibility" away from classroom teachers and principals.

At the same time as the B.C. Parent-Teacher Federation presented its brief to the cabinet last week a special committee on juvenile delinquency for the Community Welfare Council of Greater Victoria made a similar request.

The juvenile delinquency report said problem youngsters could be treated at an early age if elementary schools carried on staff trained social workers and psychologists. It urged the provincial government to share these salary costs just as it does for teachers.

Mr. Peterson said he agreed with the Parent-Teacher Federation's view that there should be greater emphasis on counselling and guidance for all students.

Car Plunge Kills Three

BOLZANO, Italy (Reuters)—Three passengers were reported killed and about 20 injured when a car on a cog-wheel railroad linking Bolzano with villages in hills above the northern Italian city plunged into a vineyard Thursday. The train carried about 100 persons including some 60 college students.

Faculty Top Men In Music

TORONTO (CP)—When the National Youth Orchestra of Canada assembles here next July for its 1965 training session, it will have a faculty of leading musicians from Canada, the United States and Europe.

Franz-Paul Decker, chief conductor of the Rotterdam Philharmonic, and Richard Burgin, concertmaster of the Boston Symphony for 42 years until his retirement in 1962, head the list.

"We want to expose our players to the best men in the field of orchestral music," says newly appointed general director Ezra Schabas.

Mr. Decker will conduct the orchestra in both its training sessions and annual tour, which will be announced later.

NEW APPOINTMENTS

First-year faculty appointments include Ruth Posselt, U.S. violinist; chamber music coach at Tanglewood and head of the violin department at Wellesley College; Britton Johnson, principal flute of the Baltimore Symphony and teacher at the Peabody Conservatory; Perry Bauman, oboe, and Nicholas Kilburn, bassoon, both of the Toronto Conservatory and instructors at the University of Toronto.

Returning are Frederick Grinke, violin; Stephen Kondaks, viola; Walter Joachim, cellist; Frederick Zimmerman, double bass; Robert Marcellus, clarinet; Arthur Goldstein, french horn; Alex Wilson, trumpet; George Yardley, trombone; Val Capper, timpano.

Applications have been sent to more than 500 young Canadian musicians and auditions will be held in December.

Power Towed To San Juan

OLYMPIA (AP)—Power-boat San Juan Island will get a boost Friday from generators on a Washington National Guard barge.

The state civil defence department said Thursday it arranged for the National Guard to tow the barge to Friday Harbor and tie it in to the island's power system.

The island lost its electricity when a Bonneville Power Administration underwater cable was cut.

The island has been getting electricity from a mobile barge unit from Vancouver, and an old power plant at Friday Harbor.

Victoria Musicians

Program Offers City Compositions

Original compositions by Victoria musicians were featured recently when the Victoria branch of the Registered Music Teachers Association sponsored a musical program.

Mrs. Olive Stuart played the first two movements of her Sonata for Piano, and two short pieces, Snow Ploughs and Needles and Pins.

VIOLIN, PIANO
Mrs. Jennifer Allen, violinist, played Arioso in F and Pastorale with the composer, Eric Edwards at the piano.

Mrs. Phyllis Hazzard's setting for the hymn, Saviour Blest, was sung by a quartet: Pamela Paver, soprano; Mrs. Iris Paver, alto; Eric Edwards, tenor, and W. E. Gregory, bass.

Miss Paver also sang two songs from operettas by Madame Winifred Lugin Fahey, The Brideship and Her Ladyship.

FOLK SONGS

Later she sang two Dream Songs accompanied by composer Stanley Shale. Two piano compositions by Mr. Shale were played by Donald James.

Mrs. Madeline Till sang A Victory Song and her arrangements of two Sinhalese folk songs. She was assisted by Miss Paver who sang Two Rejected Lovers.

Charles Palmer read Fancy's Kneel, by A. E. Houseman and the group sang Mr. Palmer's setting for four voices and flute obligato with the composer at the piano.

A number of new pictures will be included in the 160 paintings offered in the Art Gallery of Victoria's picture loan Monday.

The loans open at 7:30 p.m. and pictures selected may be kept until Jan. 4.

New works are by Maxwell Bates, Bruno Bobak, Emily Sartain, Susan Gibson, Herbert Selner, Phyllis Manning, Marybany Pavelic, Molly Privet and Muriel Barnes.

The loan is organized by the Women's Committee of the art gallery.

Painter Chooses Victoria Artists

Works of three Victoria artists have been selected for possible inclusion in the National Gallery's Sixth Biennial exhibition of Canadian paintings.

William Townsend, noted English painter and teacher at the Slade School of Art in London selected work by Richard Cicimarra, Donald Harvey and Michael Morris among the 100 from which will be chosen the final 80 to be exhibited.

Mr. Harvey and Mr. Cicimarra are currently holding an exhibition of their work at the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria.

WELL KNOWN
Mr. Cicimarra has exhibited in many Canadian centres, London and Vienna. Mr. Harvey's work has been purchased by the National Gallery and the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts. One of his canvases won first prize in the autumn sale of paintings at the Vancouver Art Gallery.

The Victoria exhibition closes Dec. 22.

Services Need Recruits

By DON GAIN

Integration of the three armed forces is not likely to prove a dampener on recruiting, says Flt. Lt. W. E. Miller, because the recruits of tomorrow are still in school today—and should stay there.

Flt. Lt. Miller, schools relations officer from the tri-service recruiting centre in Vancouver, is telling the story of service careers to Greater Victoria secondary school students this week.

"My talks are designed to encourage students to stay in school," he said Thursday. "They need as much education as they can possibly obtain."

HELP CHOOSE
The officer said Canada's armed forces are still seeking recruits.

"The basis of our presentation is to provide students with other avenues of thought to ward their careers," he said, "and possibly to help them in choosing a career for themselves."

The young people make an intelligent and attentive audience, Flt. Lt. Miller said, and their questions follow no set pattern.

"STAY IN SCHOOL"

The services require personnel for employment in all trades, he said, and looks forward to hearing from a portion of the student body in years to come.

"But in the meantime, we want them to stay in school," he reiterated. "This will make them better soldiers, sailors and airmen."

In his talks to the schools he outlined the various ways of entering the services. Leading to commissions are the regular officer training plan and the short service commission plans. A college graduate may enter the

Meeting Today

French and German selections will be performed at the monthly meeting of the Victoria Musical Art Society-Studio Group at 8 p.m. today at the home of Mrs. Julia Hunt, 335 Foul Bay Road.

Performing will be Mrs. Margaret Abbott, soprano; Miss Vivienne Abbott, violinist, and Norman Abbott, pianist.

John Larsen will present a bassoon solo and Miss Merthe Nadurak, cellist, will play a Bach suite unaccompanied.

service with a commission in certain cases such as engineers, doctors and dentists.

NCO's may be trained as tradesmen, may join as apprentices or may come into the service already with a particular trade.

Women may enter the navy to train for duty as WREN's if they have Grade 10 education. Senior matriculants may train as WREN officers. The RCAF requires graduate dietitians and physiotherapists and all three services require registered nurses.

"We are still looking for pilots and navigators and non-commissioned air crew," Flt. Lt. Miller said. "The army needs men for artillery, signals, infantry, armored corps, service corps and ordnance corps. The navy needs pilots and surface officers."

Students who want to discuss particular aspects of service careers may obtain more information from recruiting counsellors at 1002 Wharf Street.

"If I wanted to be yelled at, I'd take lessons from my husband."

Gyro Horizon Indicator
May Have Caused Crash

MONTREAL (CP)—An Ottawa pilot who helped investigate the crash of an Air Canada jetliner a year ago suggested Thursday a gyro horizon indicator could have been responsible for the crash.

Stuart T. Grant, of the civil aviation branch of the federal transport department, was testifying at an inquiry into Canada's worst single plane disaster, which took 118 lives when it crashed five minutes after takeoff from Montreal on a flight to Toronto. Mr. Grant said the gyro horizon indicator might topple in flight without a warning flag showing, thus leaving the pilot unable to tell whether his wings were horizontal with the ground.

More Japanese for Canada?

OTTAWA (UPI)—Canadian and Japanese government officials are discussing "at a high level" the possibility of more Japanese immigrants coming to Canada.

Japan wants Canada to set up an immigration office in Tokyo, but so far no action has been taken by the Canadian government.

The discussions were initiated last spring when Immigration Minister Tremblay visited Tokyo. Later, Shochi Ban of the emigration bureau in Japan's foreign office, visited Canada.

The only comment the Canadian immigration department would make today was the talks are continuing.

Kazuo Wachi, second secretary of the Japanese embassy and the embassy's expert in immigration, was more vocal. He said that Japan is interested in helping Canada meet its shortage of skilled workers and he thinks 5,000 Japanese people would be interested in coming to Canada under an expanded program.

In the polite way the Japanese have, he indicated that perhaps the slowness of the talks was the result of an unwritten Canadian ban on immigration of Japanese.

"We have proved good citizens," he said. "The door should be thrown wide open."

Only about 150 Japanese people came to Canada last year and only 90 in the first nine months of the year 1964.

Mr. Wachi says that Japan, with an area of about the same size as the island province of Newfoundland, has 100,000,000 people.

Juvenile Motorist Faces Open Court

A juvenile driver charged following the hit-and-run injury of two girls on a Victoria sidewalk Nov. 28 appeared in adult court Thursday.

Donald W. Kelly, 17, of 2537 Prior, was released on $300 bail on charges of dangerous driving, driving while under suspension, and failing to remain at the scene of an accident.

Sharon Michaels, 14, and Christine Mitchell, 15, both of 2652 Blanshard, were treated in hospital after a car struck them as they walked along a sidewalk near Blanshard and Queens.

Police said the younger girl received a broken leg and her companion suffered shock.

Kelly was transferred from juvenile court, where charges had been read to him Saturday. He is to plead in magistrate's court Dec. 16.

Whether he wants one or not, Rohn Finch, of Kelowna, is going to have a trial on charges he beat a Saanich woman and tore her clothing last summer.

Finch had pleaded guilty to assault causing bodily harm to the woman.

"Why did you beat this woman so brutally?" asked Mr. Ouellet.

"I didn't."

"But you pleaded guilty."

"I pleaded guilty to entering the house."

The magistrate told Finch the charge had been read to him before he pleaded. He repeated the charge.

Finch pleaded guilty again. He added the charge was a "pipe-dream and a fabrication."

"Naturally, I didn't beat her," he said.

"There is nothing natural about it. We shall have a trial," said the magistrate.

It will be held Dec. 7 at 2:15 p.m.

Ronald J. Walmsley, of Wignipeg, was sentenced to a year in jail for breaking and entering R. E. Johnston Co. offices, 1321 Quadra Nov. 25.

A second charge, obtaining lodgings by fraud, was dismissed by Magistrate Ouellet after a trial in which Dermot Owen-Flood acted for the defence.

The magistrate told prosecutor Peter Birkett there was no doubt that Walmsley had not paid his motel bill, but the circumstances did not fit the Criminal Code of Canada section under which he was charged.

Dead Stripped Of Valuables

RANGOON (AP) — Twenty-six passengers were killed Wednesday when a bus was mined by Communist guerrillas close to Tavoy, 300 miles southwest of Burma's capital, the Working People's Daily reported Thursday. Guerrillas stripped the dead of all valuables, cutting off the ears of dead women to remove their earrings.

Health 'Revolution'
Launched April 1B.C.'s Pledge
To City
'Years Late'

The provincial health department has been stalling too long on its four-year-old promise to build an acute mental hospital in Victoria, a mental health association official charged Thursday.

"We feel the hospital has been unduly delayed," said Robert Dudley, executive director of the Victoria Branch, Canadian Mental Health Association.

"The provincial government would sooner build black-top highways over the broken minds of our children than to fulfil its own promises."

NO DELAY

"We are concerned this hospital is started without further delay, we want it now, not just before the next election," said Mr. Dudley.

"In 1961 the provincial government said they would build a 200-bed acute mental hospital near the Royal Jubilee Hospital complex. It was to cost between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000."

PROMISES

"We know they have purchased the land and done some preliminary planning, but there has been a delay somewhere," said Mr. Dudley. "We are tired of getting promises on top of promises."

Mr. Dudley also said the announcement of the new mental health act to go into effect in April, 1965, was a "step in the right direction."

NEW AVENUES

"It will probably open up a lot of new avenues for progress if the financing is provided to carry out the aims of the new act."

"It is 10 years too late, but if the intent is carried out it is a tremendous step forward," he said.

IMPROVEMENT

"The community should have a vested interest and the present legislation takes this away from a community."

Dr. Charles Gregory, head of the Victoria Mental Health Centre, said the new act is a "very considerable improvement."

"It will allow the proper latitude for further development."

A new law that Health Minister Eric Martin claimed will eventually revolutionize mental health care in B.C. will go into effect April 1, 1965.

The cabinet Thursday set this date for the act, which was approved at the last session.

LOCAL CENTRES

The act provides for local communities to set up mental health societies and develop their own treatment centres. In certain circumstances the government can transfer its facilities to those societies.

The idea, the health minister told the legislature last spring, is to gradually decentralize mental health treatment, and eventually treat patients in their own environment.

The act will also make admission to mental hospitals as easy as admission to general hospitals. A doctor will be able to get a patient in by simply telephoning, instead of the documentation now required.

REVIEW PANELS

There will be no need for court commitments in the future. But courts will hear allegations of wrongful commitment and automatic review panels will be set up.

A health department spokesman said Thursday that the cabinet order was passed far ahead of the start of the new procedures so that there would be time to do the considerable amount of education involved.

'Plug the Holes'

Manufacturers
Ask Changes
In Labor Laws

New labor laws to plug the holes in existing legislation that showed up during the Port Alberni strike last summer were requested Thursday by the B.C. division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

The CMA brief presented to the cabinet Thursday asked for new curbs that would limit legal pickets to the plant where a strike or lockout is in progress, and for the elimination of "mystery pickets."

The seven-week strike by 49 office workers against MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Co. at Port Alberni idled approximately 4,000 employees and resulted in some $14,000,000 in lost production and $3,500,000 in lost wages, the brief said.

"The... strike has pointed up what appears to be three deficiencies in the existing legislation," it said.

● The Trades Unions Act

at present does not adequately define the location at which legal strike action in the form of picketing may be instituted.

● A minority union group in a multi-union dispute should not be able to call a strike that could lead to the shut-down of the entire operation with the resultant loss of work to the majority of employees.

● No protection is provided for the individual employee who does not wish to join a particular union as a condition of employment or who is expelled from a trade union.

"Employers must also be protected from the unlawful acts of irresponsible persons," the brief said.

● The Trades Unions Act

'Ugly Situations'

Violence and what the CMA termed "ugly situations" which have grown out of recent B.C. labor disputes provide dramatic examples of the need to outlaw picketing except where legally authorized, the brief said.

The appearance during industrial disputes of "mystery pickets" should definitely be eliminated, it said.

These illegal pickets and the "gangs of troublemakers" that often appear with them, the brief said, have done much "to undermine the intent of the Trade Unions Act and to stir up unnecessary industrial conflict."

"At present picket lines can be infiltrated by anti-unionists, rabble-rousers, or professional agitators. As unions are legally responsible for the illegal acts of pickets, unions should be protected against the danger of liability for the acts of unauthorized persons."

● Recommended establishment of a high-level labor-management consultative committee to promote greater co-operation and understanding in labor relations.

● Asked for exemption from social services tax on all machinery and materials used in the manufacture of goods.

● Urged establishment of an economic council for B.C., but added that the CMA was opposed to the formation of any such group which has the power to implement its recommendations regarding the planning of the economy.

Council Says Board
Owns It

There may be some doubt in the minds of the members of the Castle Society about who owns Craigdarroch Castle but there's none in the minds of city aldermen.

"Why it's owned by School District 6—who else?" said Ald. Austin Curtis after hearing a letter from the society. In view of the fact that the board was vacating the building in the foreseeable future what its status? the letter asked.

PAID $30,000

"The board bought the castle for $30,000 some years ago. It has since been using it for offices. I believe I was a member of the board when it was bought," said Ald. Curtis.

"Everybody seems to know who owns Craigdarroch Castle but the Castle Society," said City Manager Dennis Young.

Mayor Wilson Assures:

Victoria Will Be Ready For Centennial Year

By A. H. MURPHY

Greater Victoria will be equal to whatever Canada's centennial year, 1967, will bring—whether it be tattoos, spectacles or pagants—in the opinion of Mayor R. B. Wilson.

The mayor was commenting on a warning given recently by L. J. Wallace, chairman of B.C.'s centennial committee.

Mr. Wallace said that a giant tattoo, along with two or three other major events, may come to Victoria in 1967—but only if adequate stadium facilities are provided.

ENCLOSED STADIUM

An enclosed stadium was undoubtedly needed in the district, said the mayor, but the facilities at Royal Athletic Park should not be neglected.

Now that the bleachers had burned and reconstruction was in the air, it was a question of just what should be done.

The issue was discussed at a recent council committee meeting at which it was decided to have the city manager prepare a report on the subject.

ATLETIC PARK

At that time it was generally agreed that Royal Athletic Park was essential to the city. Mayor Wilson suggested that it might be wise to consider acquiring additional land in the district in order to expand the park.

The matter was one of concern to the Greater Victoria Sports Council, said parks commissioner Herbert Warren.

Meanwhile the matter of an enclosed sports stadium has been elevated to the intermunicipal sphere.

City council has discussed the problem and decided that it is a district rather than a city matter—that the best needs of the area might well be served by a stadium outside the city limits.

Aldermen are almost unanimous in their desire to see a stadium built as an intermunicipal centennial project, but where and when and by whom are questions as yet without answers.

"This is not an easy problem and it is not one which is going to be solved overnight," said Mayor Wilson.

"However the need is evident and I am confident that the municipalities of Greater Victoria will work together on this as they have on so many other projects vital to the district as a whole."

Colquits choir sings carols for orphanage audience

Santas by Dozens

By TED GASKELL

When Christmas comes to the Protestant Orphanage, there's no mistake about it being the season of goodwill. For the 48 children in the large, brick building on Cook at Hillside it's a wonderful season.

For the rest of the year they may miss the home life that other children have, but when December comes they make up the happiest and perhaps the luckiest family in Victoria.

Not only do they get lots of parties and many gifts, but, magic of all magic, Santa actually visits them twice. To most children, if they have been very, very good Santa only comes once and that only if they are asleep. But for the orphanage children there's a second visit.

First he fills the stockings as he does for children with proper homes.

But later that day, perhaps because the orphanage children are not as lucky as other children, he makes a special in-person call with more gifts after Christmas dinner.

And then there are the parties.

B.C. Hydro, Canadian Legion, Government House, Kiwanis, plus business firms, the orphanage junior auxiliary, its women's committee and board of management, all act as hosts to the youngsters during the Christmas season.

Wednesday, there was a different kind of party, a carol party.

Mrs. Charlotte Lane's choir from Colquits Junior High School—80 voices—sang Christmas songs, then led the youngsters in community singing of favorite carols.

How they loved it. Even the three and four-year-olds who couldn't read hung on to their song sheets and made believe they were singing the words.

Then came the gifts. What delight there was then as Grade 10 students Dianne Richard and Ellen Pollock handed out the packages of candy from the school's junior Red Cross.

Poor lonely little mites? Not a bit of it. True, very few are real orphans in that they have no parents, and that most of them are from broken homes, but at Christmas time they are a joy to see.

Tiny tots in pyjamas, staying up late for the concert: older children faces aglow and hearts bursting with song and excitement, were having a ball.

Paul was really excited. "I know who you are. You're from the paper and the other man is a photographer. Will you put our names in. This is Fred and that's Ron," he cried happily.

They do enjoy such visits. "Everything is a thrill for them," said matron Mrs. A. M. Ludgate.

Bonnie Sallis, Grade 9 student who did a comic dance routine, said "they're really cute. They're such nice kids and they're so appreciative." She thinks entertaining at the orphanage is "really mini."

And so do the children. Youngsters, some so small they had to strain, came to their bedroom window, pushed them open and yelled "goodnight, goodnight."

Excitement kept sleep away a long time last night, you can bet.

Wound Complications Caused Man's Death

charge was changed to non-capital murder.

Dr. McNeely and other medical witnesses said major surgery and 15 pints of blood by transfusion failed to save Mr. Moone. He was buried Thursday after funeral services attended by his son.

DECEASED

The pathologist said Moone would not have died if the bullet had entered his body an inch higher than it did.

The younger Moone arrived at St. Joseph's Hospital at 3 p.m. in an unmarked police car. He was accompanied by three Saanich detectives through the rear door of the hospital.

When the service was over, about a half-hour later, detectives waited until the funeral procession had left before they escorted Moone back to the police car. Moone pulled his overcoat collar high over his head as he was being taken to the car.

CLOSELY GUARDED

He did not attend the graveside service at Royal Oak Cemetery.

It did not appear that Moone was handcuffed, but he was guarded closely by two senior detectives throughout the service.

Saanich police declined to say exactly what precautions were taken, except to say they were "adequate."

BALE REQUESTED

In court Wednesday the younger Moone had applied for bail. Magistrate William Oester said he would study the law covering bail in such a case and give his findings Dec. 16.

The inquest was adjourned to 7:30 p.m. Jan. 21, but may be cancelled altogether by the attorney-general.

Butchers Get Raise

Seventeen Greater Victoria meat markets in three major chain stores have reached an agreement with the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen for a three-year contract.

The agreement will cover 130 persons at Canada Safeway, Super-Valu and Shop-Easy stores.

"The employers and employees have accepted the contract and in some cases it is already in effect," said union representative George Johnston.

The contract will give journeymen and meatcutters an extra 10 cents an hour in five stages over the next two years.

Female employees in the meat and allied departments will get 20 cents an hour in five stages over the next two years.

First two stages of the raises are retroactive to May 4, and Nov. 2, 1964. The other three stages will take effect May 2 and Nov. 1, 1965 and May 1, 1966, and the contract will run until May, 1967.

Including the first two stages, 80 men affected now earn $2.90 an hour with head meat cutters getting $3.15 an hour. Rate for the female employees is now $2.15 an hour.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: For the past six months I have been a visitor in your wonderful country. Now that I am about to return to Austria I would like to tell you my impressions of America.

Your country is indeed the most prosperous in the world. The spaciousness of America is overwhelming; the beauty awesome. I love every inch of it.

But, Miss Landers, something is wrong with the people. They are friendly and helpful but they appear to be unhappy. In America there is much pleasure, but no joy. Americans seem always to surround themselves with so much noise. They even walk with radios in their hands.

Your people hurry a great deal. They are afraid of quiet—afraid to think. And as one listens to much of the social conversation it is apparent that they do NOT think. They repeat only what they heard on the radio or TV.

I had a wonderful visit. Your country is the most beautiful in the world. You have lofty mountains, great prairies, endless deserts, beautiful tropics and imposing cities. May God bless all Americans and may you find the true joy that mere pleasure cannot bring.

—A THANKFUL GUEST

Dear Guest: Thank you for some thoughtful observations. The distinction between pleasure and joy is a point worth making. Too many people do not know the difference.

I too, have long felt that the absence of quiet is a device to escape from one's thoughts. The inability to be alone is one of the most telling illnesses of our time.

Dear Ann Landers: I have a problem but I'm not sure you can solve it because you caused it. Ever since you printed that letter from the woman who has a parrot which imitates voices on the radio (especially mine) I've been getting letters asking, "Will the real Edward P. Morgan please stand up."

I don't want a cracker. Ann, I want help. The sponsors of my program are disturbed. They want to know if the parrot is a member of the Actor's Union. I am disturbed, too, because if she is, they might decide to replace me. The parrot probably would work cheaper and be more of a novelty.

An aunt of mine, idly looking for a possible legacy from the J. P. Morgan family, once traced our family tree. She found no

Mrs. Kurtz Retires

PARKSVILLE — Mrs. Mildred Kurtz of Parksville was honored at a farewell tea given by co-workers of the Nanaimo office, B.C. Telephone Company at the operators' lounge prior to her retirement, Nov. 30.

On behalf of the staff, Miss Marion Morrison, tea convener, presented Mrs. Kurtz with a marble desk set with clock and calendar. Mrs. Kurtz was also presented with a gift of cash and a golden orchid.

Best wishes for a happy retirement were tendered to Mrs. Kurtz by Miss Mary Logan, chief operator, and G. D. Stewart, district manager.

Centering the refreshment table was a cake in the shape of a picture hat, made and decorated by Mrs. Cora Dines. Co-convener for the tea were Mrs. Lillian LePas and Mrs. May Wallace. Later in the day Mrs. Kurtz was guest of honor for cocktails and dinner at the Tally-Ho Hotel.

Mrs. Kurtz joined the company in Jan. 1930 at the Parksville office. She was allowed leave of absence to join the RCAF in 1942 and after almost five years in the service returned to Parksville where she stayed until the office was closed on conversion to dial in 1960.

There were two breaks in service to take trips to England in 1951 and 1953, and when Parksville office closed, Mrs. Kurtz went to the Port Alberni office, transferring to Nanaimo in April 1962.

Stick to a schedule of work during the daytime and visit with family and friends during the evening. If you have an excess of time and energy offer your services to one of the many Volunteer Organizations in your community.

Harris Tweed Mark For Island Fabric

By ANNE TAYLOR
The London Observer

LONDON — The mark of "Harris Tweed" has been preserved for fabric made only from yarn spun on the outer Hebrides Islands off Scotland.

Any material that bears the orb and cross mark of "Harris Tweed" also must be woven by the 15,000 weavers on the islands.

The rest of the tweed they weave on the same cottage looms—from yarn spun in the Highlands can't be called Harris.

As one expert explained: the weavers will work, say on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday for the Harris Tweed Association, which now has sole right to the name, and on Thursday, Friday and Saturday they'll be busy doing the same thing for other producers with no rights to the famous name.

After the longest case in Scottish legal history—it lasted 14 weeks—the Edinburgh Court of Session decided that tweed manufactured by independent Harris Tweed Producers Ltd., a group representing mainland firms, could not properly be called Harris Tweed.

This was because though the hand weaving was done in the outer Hebrides the yarn was spun on the mainland and the cloth sent back there to be finished.

The independent Harris Tweed producers announced last week that they would not pursue an appeal and that they have dissolved.

Two of the companies involved, with mills at Oban and Keith, have combined to form a new organization, Highlands and Islands Tweeds Limited.

Its object is to protect, and promote, firms manufacturing tweed woven in the outer Hebrides but otherwise wholly processed on the mainland.

Highlands and Islands will now send yarn spun from Scottish wool on the mainland by sea to Stornoway on the island of Lewis. There the yarn will be distributed round the Hebridean islands to the crofter weavers. The tweed will be collected from them and brought back to the mills on the mainland to be finished.

The Harris Tweed Association has six mills on the island of Lewis, five of them in Stornoway. The 1,000 people employed there spin yarn from raw Scottish wool, brought by road and sea from Glasgow.

Most weavers have long been working for both the Harris Tweed Association and the mainland firms, since there is not usually enough to go round.

The supply of island yarn is limited and it is inclined to be more expensive—it takes three days to transport it by lorry and steamers from the collection point, Glasgow.

St. Peter's Bazaar

Afternoon tea and bazaar put on by Ladies' Evening Guild, of St. Peter's Church, Lake Hill, realized $180.

Mrs. George R. Pearkes opened the recent annual affair. Mrs. J. T. Burwood, president of the Guild, introduced the special guest and presented her with a corsage of gardenia pink carnations.

IDEAL FOR ROSES
Much of New Zealand's climate is ideal for growing roses, say experts, with its damp, cool conditions.

Elegance in wool: Interesting styles in wool are these tweedy creations for next spring by Hemy-Jean Baillie of Paris. At left is a broad striped skirt with matching jacket. At right is seen a knee-length coat in a bold weave. —(Fednews)

Turkey Feather Decor

There were Christmas novelties all over the place at the Gorge Road Hospital bazaar Wednesday. Even the decorations held novel surprises like the colorful, gilded ice cream cones sporting colored balls instead of ice cream.

Corsages and table decorations, made from dyed turkey feathers, were an innovation this year. They proved popular with the customers, too.

Mr. William Morrison, administrator of the hospital, opened the affair at which $900 was realized.

General convenor was Mrs. E. R. Owen. She was assisted in receiving guests by president, Mrs. George Callan.

Close to 200 guests were present for the turkeyburger luncheon. Serving on the committee were Mrs. Sidney Smethurst, Mrs. Harold Jackson, Mrs. J. L. Cook, Mrs. T. E. Pagdin and Mrs. J. W. Lewis. Mrs. H. T. Shemilt and Mrs. Owen convened the tea and Mrs. William Green was in charge of coffee arrangements.

Most of the stalls were sold out long before the bazaar ended. Selling Christmas novelties were Mrs. Arthur Mawer and Mrs. H. V. O'Reilly. Other stall convenors were: Sewing, Mrs. Alfred Peddesden and Mrs. Frank Harvey; candy, Mrs. Charles Douglas and Mrs. Fred Campbell; home cooking, Mrs. Victor Mawer and Mrs. W. W. McGregor and Mrs. R. B. Simm; toys, Mrs. E. C. Brown and Mrs. H. E. Horner; baby

seven, Mrs. R. G. Aitken; white elephants, Mrs. G. F. Hilliard; flowers, Mrs. J. C. Gourlie; hats, Mrs. Corinne Coleman; jewelry, Mrs. P. L. Bonnell.

Mrs. G. J. Bellavance and Mrs. Theo Copley acted as servers and Mrs. M. K. MacCrae was in charge of tickets.

By JEAN SHARP

TORONTO (CP) — A kissing ball and plum cakes help conjure ghosts of Christmas past at Mackenzie House in downtown Toronto. Home-made decorations and recipes from old cookbooks are used to recreate the holiday atmosphere of the Upper Canada of about 100 years ago.

Shirley McManus, in charge of the Christmas party, says anyone could do it. "It's a lot of work, but it is fun."

Mrs. McManus is secretary to the director of the Toronto Historical Board which operates the home given to William Lyon Mackenzie, the fiery rebel who became Toronto's first mayor. He died there in 1861.

From Dec. 11 to Dec. 20 it will be decorated, Mrs. McManus says, "not necessarily the way the Mackenzies would have decorated, but it will be typical of the period. We have done a lot of research on it."

Almost all of the decorations are hand-made. Once they would probably have been made by the children of the family.

The most colorful is the kissing ball which hangs in a doorway. Use two crossed embroidery hoops covered with wire mesh as a frame for the ball, cover it completely with greenery, small fruits and berries, possibly paper flowers, attach mistletoe at the bottom, and you have a kissing ball.

SHELLAC CRANBERRIES
The tree is trimmed with popcorn and cranberry strings, small candles in holders wired to the branches, and small wicker baskets or paper cones filled with hard candies.

Mrs. McManus says cranberry strings should be made at the last minute so the berries will not rot. They can be shellacked with a brush after they are strung to make them last longer. If you dip them, the shellac will soak them too much.

Looping garlands of strung popcorn would decorate a fireplace, with greenery for the mantel top. "Greenery was used a lot, wreaths were common, and garlands of greens."

A century ago a Yule log burned in the fireplace all Christmas day—it was bad luck if it went out.

"They used hardwood. After it had burned all day, the bit left over was put in the attic to keep the house from being struck by lightning. The next year it was used to start the new Yule log."

A colorful substitute for the real thing can be made from newspapers and chemical salts. Mrs. McManus says Christmas dinner hasn't changed very much, except that once goose was more common than turkey.

During the 10-day open house, token amounts of old dessert recipes are cooked on the wood stove at Mackenzie House. Mrs. McManus found some of them in a cookbook dating from the period and entitled Domestic Cooking for the Family by a Lady, Mrs. Rundel.

RECIPES
One, for cranberry punch, calls for 2 cups cranberries, 3 cups water, ½ cup sugar, 2 tablespoons lemon, 1½ cups ginger ale.

Cook cranberries in boiling water for about 10 minutes or until the skins of the cranberries pop. Strain. Boil the juice with sugar, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Add lemon and chill. Just before serving, add 1½ cups ginger ale. Serves 8 to 10.

Another, called little plum cakes—they are actually more like cookies—is: dry 1 pound of flour and mix with 6 ounces of finely pounded sugar. Beat 6 ounces of butter to a cream and add three well-beaten eggs, half a pound of currants, washed and dried, and the flour and sugar. Beat all for some time, then sprinkle flour on tin plates, and drop the batter on them, the size of a walnut. If properly mixed, the batter will be a stiff paste. Bake in a brisk oven.

Garden Notes

Don't Be a Slave

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRANK

In the folklore of Old Russia there is a legend that tells of a fabulous country where any traveler may become the owner of as much land as he can walk around between sunrise and sunset. There was a catch in the deal, of course—the starting point had to be regained before the sun sank. Like most folk-lore, there is a moral to the story, for in his greed to acquire as much land as possible, the traveler rarely or never made it back to the starting point before the sun dipped. Or if he was successful, he was so exhausted from the strain that he died.

There is hardly a keen gardener amongst us who doesn't banker against more land in which to expand his activities, but when he gets it, he makes a whip for his own back and becomes a slave to his garden, with never any leisure to enjoy the beauty and fruits of his labor.

It might be profitable, then, particularly for beginners, to speculate on the amount of ground and the kind of garden that can be cared for comfortably and without strain in one's leisure hours.

Much depends upon the nature of the garden, of course. At first thought, the so-called wild garden would appear to be the most labor-saving, but the line between "wild" and "neglected" is a fine one, and its owner may easily become a dirty name to his neighbors as a producer of weed seeds. The plot could be devoted largely to lawn, but to me, the cutting and trimming of the grass is one of the least interesting aspects of gardening, and only one degree less strenuous and boring than harvesting potatoes.

Is it possible for a gardener in his spare time, weekends and fine evenings, to manage a half-acre plot? He can, perhaps, by leaning heavily on shrubs and small trees and eschewing bedding plants and the kinds of perennials that need constant attention. He'll have to impress his wife and children as forced labor, though, and even at that, it won't leave much time for golf or fishing.

It seems to me that a largish city lot, say about 75 by 100 feet, is as much as most of us can handle, after putting in a 40-hour week at the office or shop, without gardening becoming a joyless chore.

There are exceptions, of course. I have known some human robots who appear tireless and can go on hour after hour at the most diabolical chore without ever feeling the need for a smoke or a cold bottle of beer.

Some have an almost inhuman genius for organization, with all garden operations done at the proper time and in their proper order, and every garden tool in its proper place, ready to hand. These supermen never waste time tearing the garage apart looking for a needed implement.

But in the main, for the average home gardener with the average lazy streak and all the other human failings, I believe my 75 by 100-foot plot is about the maximum that can be worked comfortably without becoming like the land-hungry travelers in the Russian fable.

STAN DELAPLANE Recalls Immortal Phrase

Yes, Virginia, There Is...

We are trying to get with the Christmas spirit. The elbows in the ribs in the crowded elevator. The lady who gives you the umbrella point as you reach for the door of the taxi in the rain. The scatter is full of mopelets. And the mopelets are full of noise.

"Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus."

These immortal words were written by the late Francis Pharcellus Church—

Church was an editorial writer on the respected New York Sun. He was answering the childish letter of little Virginia who asked if the good Santa Claus really existed. Adding:

"Daddy says if you see it in the Sun, it's so."

I often wondered why Charles Dana, the famous editor, did not reach for the goose quill and answer it himself. For it surely is a fine piece of unsolicited praise.

He was out. So Francis Pharcellus Church sat down and answered. Answered and became immortal. "Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus."

Not to Monday-morning-quarterback the immortals, but I must say Francis fell apart after that first line.

It is a good thing they do not quote his whole editorial.

If Virginia got the letter, I doubt if she got the message.

Francis got off the first line. And then he went into orbit far above the reminder:

"In this great universe of ours," wrote Francis, "man is a mere insect, an ant in his intellect, as compared with the boundless world about him, as measured by the intelligence capable of grasping the whole truth and knowledge."

Little Virginia may have seen it in the Sun and figured it was so. But she must have wondered what Francis Pharcellus was driving at.

That is the way with my Christmas spirit. As soon as somebody tells me there is a Santa Claus, somebody else has got my taxi in the rain. And I am pulling umbrellas points out of my ribs.

Give me a medal for Christmas.

I have not been asked if there really is a Santa Claus. Half of my household is shiny-eyed and KNOWS there is.

The others have grown into cynics. But one thing they know—and they don't have to read it in a newspaper—there's always Daddy-O with the pockets in depth.

Father who sees the logic of the argument: "If you don't give me some money, how can I buy you a present?"

Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa

Claus. Also the Diner's Club, the Lay-away Plan and the Revolving Credit scheme.

There is the plastic nest of credit cards that bulge the wallet in our pistol pocket.

The Christmas spirit comes on a plastic card. Printed in italics—if you sit on it, your credit standing is bitten into you by sharp letters.

With all this heart on the part of our creditors, how can anyone doubt there is, indeed, a Santa Claus.

Ah, if I had the words of Francis Pharcellus. "In this great universe of ours, man is a mere insect."

Those were the phrases that shook the Sun.

I bet Dana was mad when he read that. Furious that HE did not get to answer Virginia. It probably spoiled his Christmas spirit. Which is hard to keep when the help is getting immortal.

The Little World of SHEILAH GRAHAM

Beatles Go Private

HOLLYWOOD—The Beatles have decided to cut out the personal appearances. They're too exhausting and they don't need the money. The famed shaggy-haired quartette will concentrate on making movies, television and records. Their newest album, Beatles for Sale consists of 14 songs, all new and in one of them Ringo sings Honey Don't—Isn't this his first solo?

Talking of Ringo—the song by Bonanza boss Lorne Greene that is—this No. 1 hit is nearing the million record sales mark. Not only that, but Greene might, so I hear, be making a movie with Bobby Darin, based on the song. But for an interesting switch, it will be Lorne, not Bobby, who will sing the title song, Ringo.

Kim Novak and Omar Sharif are dining in foggy London town. But Kim is still hoping to make Christmas with her family in Chicago. Returnees from Rome say it was true that George Best did flip for Ava Gardner while they were playing Sarah and Abraham respectively in The Bible.

I've just heard how Peter O'Toole got out of Italy after all the trouble with the police when he punched a photographer. He was on bail but determined to leave the country. He borrowed the passport of a woman friend, bought a wig that resembled her natural hair, dressed up as a woman, and flew off by British plane. Don't ask me what happened at the other end. I can only assume that he changed to his own identity and passport in mid-air.

Rita Lee is the most determined girl I know. Having succeeded in bringing her 90-year-old grandmother from Lithuania to the U.S. she is now in Washington, seeing Soviet embassy officials, to get her aunt out of Russia as well. As for Rita's more personal life, she is being romanced by a rich young electronics tycoon, Fletcher Jones.

Joan Shawlee who appeared in the original Some Like It Hot film with Marilyn Monroe, Tony Curtis and Jack Lemmon, is the only one of the movie cast who expects to be in the TV series, now being plotted by the Mirisch Brothers. Joan played the handmaiden in the movie. But in the series, she is hoping to land Marilyn's role.

Pretty Diane Baker has just signed a contract with Universal. She has made a lot of films since she played the young girl in Diary of Anne Frank. "It's a seven-year contract, and I have to do two a year," she told me. "But in the second half of the second year, I can take six months off to do a play. I was called from New York today and asked to play the girl in The Easter Man on Broadway. But rehearsals start this month, and I won't finish The Mirage with Gregory Peck until the middle of December." "Do you have some love scenes with him?" said this envious reporter. "There are a couple, and I hope they may marry him in the story after the final scene." Diane lost 13 pounds in the first week of the movie. "How? By eating practically nothing. I don't recommend a rush diet, but the camera, as you know, makes you look 10 pounds heavier. This is the best opportunity I've had yet, and I want to make the most of it."

A new girl, Rosemary Farnth, blue-eyed, ash blonde hair, took the best vacation by Diane who was called to the set. Rosemary is Charlita Heston's leading lady in the War Lord. Before that she was with Jimmy Stewart in Shenandoah. Not bad for a girl who had never worked in the movies. She was a model. In the War Lord, Heston exercises his right de seigneur, and smashes her from her bridegroom before the marriage is consummated. I am sure the film ends with Rosemary being delighted that Charlita snatched her.

To go back to the Oscars. Rita Tushingham was not mentioned for her Taste of Honey a few years back. And that was a bad oversight. Perhaps this will be rectified with this year's hit, The Girl With The Green Eyes, which everyone raves about and which was made for the low price of $225,000. As Castle will tell you, when you make a picture for a small amount of money, you can make a lot of money. And sometimes a good film.

Clicks Synchronize Hatching Time

Eggs Talk to Each Other

LONDON — Eggs communicate with each other. They do it by clicking. Put a noisy clock beside a fertilized egg of the Bob White quail for any bird, probably, and the egg will hatch prematurely.

The egg, it seems, assumes that the clock is another egg, telling it to get on with its hatching. It tries to do so, and the result is a kind of a miscarriage.

This power of clocks has been uncovered by the Cambridge University research project in egg communication.

The project (now being continued by the university's new Trian computer, programmed to behave like a clutch of clicking eggs) has thrown up a good many other curious discoveries—beside providing the first experimental proof of the egg-communication.

When work started, there was already some inductive evidence.

Why, for instance, should one infertile egg slow down the hatching of the whole clutch. And why should a batch of eggs hatch all within one hour, although laid over a period of some days?

A process of elimination indicated that eggs must communicate by sound.

In the psychology department, Miss Margaret Vince amassed a recorded library of egg noises.

She has shown that what matters for communication purposes is the "clicking," which can be heard quite clearly if the egg is held to the ear during the day or so before it hatches.

But even experimental eggs with windows in them, made by cutting away a bit of the shell and treating the membrane inside to make it transparent, have not revealed exactly what the chick inside is doing to make it click.

One thing it is not doing is trying to pack its way out.

When an egg clicks it stimulates any other eggs in contact with it to click too.

It appears that an egg has to click a certain number of times before it hatches.

So a group of eggs in contact, all stimulating each other, tend to hatch roughly together, despite differing laying times.

(The London Sunday Times)

In Remote Canadian North

'Richest Lode' Discovered

REGINA (CP) — Millions of tons of iron ore so rich and pure that it can be fed directly into blast furnaces have been found on Baffin Island in Canada's far north.

Arthur Laing, northern affairs and national resources minister, said Wednesday in making the discovery public: "It is unquestionably the best ore in the world. It's absolutely free of impurities of any kind. If it was accessible it would be, in demand, the first iron ore of any in the world." He said the ore was 90 per cent iron compared with the average of about 60 per cent.

Murray Watts, Toronto prospector and minerals developer who made the discovery for British Unga Va Explorations Limited, said the federal government would be asked for aid in making it possible to ship the ore from Milne Inlet, which now is free of ice for only two months of the year.

Mr. Watts said a group of companies had spent $1,000,000 in proving the extent and value of the ore. One of four major deposits had been studied closely so far and was estimated to hold 116,000,000 tons.

Mr. Laing said the federal government would send two icebreakers to the eastern Arctic area next summer to do surveys on the possibility of extending the shipping season to three or four months to make it commercially feasible to develop the deposits.

"The prospects (of development) are exceedingly good," he said in a telephone interview from Swift Current, Sask. "If the deposit were at an open sea it would be opened up at once."

"But we have a situation where ice reduces the shipping season to eight or nine weeks and we will see what can be done with icebreakers. We are hopeful we can get it out. We use icebreakers for shipping deliveries up there now."

Mr. Laing first made the discovery public in an address in Vancouver Tuesday. Reporters reached him in Swift Current for details of the strike. While Mr. Watts made his discovery three years ago, the magnitude of the strike was only recently determined.

Mr. Watts said the largest shareholder in the group of companies interested in mining the strike is Anglo American Molybdenite Mining Corporation of South Africa.

Others are Baffin Land Iron Mines Limited, a company of which Mr. Watts is president; Madsen Red Lake Gold Mines Limited, Falconbridge Nickel Mines Limited, Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada Limited, Asbestos Corporation Limited and West-Beld Mines Limited.

Mr. Laing said this "world-wide organization" estimated that 200-400 Eskimo workers could be employed in development and that a "tremendous" price of $15 a ton could be obtained at delivery points in European markets.

Milne Inlet is about 120 miles south of the northernmost tip of Baffin Island and about 1,700 miles north of Toronto.

Cramming Time Here As Exams Draw Near

With a day and a half of lectures remaining, University of Victoria students are acquiring that haggard look that means exam time is near.

Christmas examinations start Tuesday, leaving students this weekend for a final cramming session after lectures end on Saturday.

Some third and fourth-year students are feeling snug because many upper-year courses do not have Christmas examinations, although they won't escape final exams in the spring.

All first and second-year students must face the two-hour exams.

Students will celebrate the end of exams Dec. 18 at the Christmas Dance at the Crystal Garden.

Police Jail 800 Sprawlers

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — Helmed police Thursday arrested some 800 persons who sprawled all night in the University of California administration building in a "free speech" demonstration described by the state's governor as anarchy.

More than 500 police, sheriff's deputies and highway patrolmen finally cleared the four-story Sproul Hall at 3:15 p.m. when they carried or dragged the last of the limp resisters to jail vans.

The police moved in some 12 hours before on orders of Gov. Edmund Brown. He called the sit-in demonstration anarchy and said, "We're not going to have anarchy in the state of California while I'm governor."

Rebellious students retaliated by trying to organize a campus-wide general strike. Absenteeism was higher than usual in some departments and a number of sympathetic teaching assistants—graduate students employed by the university—failed to show up to conduct classes.

But an overwhelming majority of the 27,500 students at the home campus of the nation's largest university went to classes as usual.

While police were removing demonstrators, some 2,000 faculty members met in a packed auditorium and dispatched a telegram to Brown in which they "strongly condemn the presence of the state highway patrol on the Berkeley campus."

"Only prompt release of the arrested students offers any prospect of restoring unity of campus life and return to normal academic functions," the message added.

The faculty proposed new and liberalized rules for campus political action and that "all pending campus action against students for actions occurring before the present date be dropped." Also proposed was a faculty committee to which students could appeal administrative discipline.

Compare the age, plainly marked on each bottle of Wiser's whisky with any other brands in their price classes. You will find, on the average Wiser's whiskies are older. And "older" to Wiser's means aged in wood... and "married" in wood—a process of returning the spirits to wood after final blending for a further period of quiet aging. So for the best whiskies, the best value—drink one that's OLDER and WISER'S.

For good values in well aged whiskies: Wiser's De Luxe, 10 years old; Wiser's 101, 6 years old; Wiser's Old Rye, 5 years old; Wiser's Special Blend, 4 years old.

Land Purchase Studied

Crowded Library Looking to North

In order to alleviate the public library's growing pains, the intermunicipal committee will be asked to consider buying the Blanshard Street property to the immediate north.

● Victoria Electric Club, Colony Hotel, noon.

Revelstoke Plans Dikes

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dikes will be built to save Revelstoke's Big Eddy and Illecillewett areas from flooding by the Arrow Dam reservoir, B.C. Hydro and Power Authority announced Wednesday. Up to two-thirds of the area will be saved by the dikes, Hydro said.

Now occupied by the restaurant, King Arthur's Round Table, the property has been offered for $75,000. Members of city council finance committee, meeting Thursday, though this was far too much.

A price in the neighborhood of $40,000 would be more realistic, they thought.

Ald. Robert Baird thought alderman should also consider acquisition of the property further north, the Kent Apartment Hotel, on the southwest corner of Johnson and Blanshard.

GRAB NOW

A value of $120,000 has been set on the property, the alderman pointed out. It might be well to consider grabbing the land now rather than pay much more for it in 20 years when it would be needed for further library expansion.

Ald. Austin Curtis said that if the recommendations of the Vancouver Report, prepared for council's use a number of years ago, were implemented, the library would not grow in its present location but would expand not up but out.

"As I recall it," said Ald. Curtis, "there would be two branches in Saanich, one in Oak Bay and one in Esquimalt."

The Kent Hotel idea will be sent on to the library board for its consideration.

City Hall Holiday

City hall will close at noon Dec. 24 and be open for business as usual on the following Monday morning.

"I think it's better this way," said City Manager Dennis Young. "The day before Christmas is just about the longest day in the year. This way we should, at least, get a full day's work on Dec. 22."

'Set Sights on Higher Office'

Saanich council candidates seeking changes in the Liquor Control Board "should set their sights for higher office," candidate Harry Shergold believes.

In a press release, Mr. Shergold said such matters as LCB changes "are not the concern of a municipal council."

He added that acquiring a Saanich liquor store should not be an election issue because "there are far more important problems which need a solution."

In an apparent reference to the fire chief issue, Mr. Shergold suggested a "comprehensive, progressive personnel administration program should be started to provide equal promotion prospects for all municipal employees."

Another candidate, Alan J. Newberry, is pushing for the removal of hard-to-read tourist highway signs or the installation of larger ones.

Victoria Would Top List If Fare Increases Made

By JOHN LEBLANC

Canadian Press Staff Writer
Variety is the word for local public transit in Canada.

Fares vary widely. So does type of service. You can ride Canada's last surviving tramcars in Toronto, or its only subway, Elsewhere, it's buses, mostly new but in some places up to 20 years old.

You can travel 19 miles for less than a cent in Winnipeg, or three miles for more than four cents a mile in Halifax.

MAJOR CENTRES

In 22 major centres looked at by The Canadian Press in a Cross-Canada Survey, there is an array of eight basic fares ranging from 10 to 18 cents. Mostly they are in assorted fractions such as 14 2-7 cents (seven for $1).

Most popular toll is 12 1/2 cents. Six communities have this eight-for-$1 rate.

Last stronghold of the 10-cent fare is Medicine Hat, Alta., where the depleted dime—long only a fond memory to riders almost everywhere—has been doing yeoman service since 1961. It buys a seven-mile ride. At the other end of the scale, Windsor customers travel for 18 cents (five for 90 cents). The longest ride for a single fare here is about 10 miles.

WON'T BE TOPS

A move is afoot in British Columbia to raise Vancouver and Victoria to the top of the scale. The provincial government's B.C. Hydro and Power Authority, which owns the transit systems, has given notice of a 20-cent fare (five tokens for $1). Single fares would be 25 cents.

Vancouver since 1958 has had a basic 15-cent fare and Victoria's has been 12 1/2 cents since then. Vancouver is divided into 14 fare zones and Victoria three. The current system calls for varying additional fares when travelling from one zone to another. Under the proposed plan, Vancouver would have four zones with a 15-cent additional charge for travelling from zone to zone. Victoria would be a single zone.

HIGHER RATES

B.C. Hydro, which took over the service as part of its absorption of privately-owned B.C. Electric Company, announced last spring the higher rates would go into effect by the end of September. But they have been held up while the province's Public Utilities Commission investigates.

Hydro lost $2,500,000 on the Vancouver service and $744,000 in Victoria last year. Its franchises run out by 1967, and it has indicated it will not seek renewal. The Vancouver city council has been informed that neither Hydro nor the city is obligated legally to provide service.

OTHER FARES STABLE

Elsewhere, fares appear stable for the present, even in Toronto where the subway-tramway-hus setup has had them bouncing around like a yo-yo in recent years until they settled down to 16 2-3 cents last Jan. 1. In other communities fares have remained unchanged as far back as 1957.

Halifax and Winnipeg have had their current fares since then. Only a year younger are the 12 1/2 cents at Saint John, N.B., 15 at Montreal and 11 1-8 (nine for $1) at Moose Jaw.

Montreal's subway is due for completion in 1967, but authorities have not indicated it will call for higher charges.

Medicine Hat has had its rock-bottom 10-cent fare in effect since 1961. Before that the happy Hat riders could go seven miles for 8 1/2 cents.

Windsor has had its 18-cent tariff for the same time. It gets a straphanger 10 miles with a nickel a zone extra for each of four zones into the suburbs.

FARE DOUBLES

Some other aspects of Canadian transit:

Saskatoon's rate—14 2-7—has doubled in five years since 1945 and the city council has tried to call a halt by subsidizing the system up to $300,000. When the deficit hits that figure, a new increase will be considered. It is expected to be $175,000 for 1964.

OUTLYING AREAS

Edmonton has found the bulk of its deficits are caused by necessary expansion of service to outlying areas and city council is talking of making it up through taxes. The Edmonton adult fare is 14 2-7 cents. The city has two rarities: Monthly passes at $10 and free rides for old age pensioners.

Fredericton has an oddity, too. All its equipment is just one year old—some rolling stock in other parts runs to 20 years. The New Brunswick capital was without public transportation except taxis for several years, and a service started up with new stock. The fare matches neighboring Saint John's 12 1/2 cents.

Deviate Clinic
Reminder
Given B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP) — The British Columbia Parent-Teacher Federation Thursday asked the provincial government what progress had been made towards establishment of a forensic clinic to treat sex deviates.

Mrs. H. L. Steves, federation president, said the federation has twice asked the government for a clinic to treat sex deviates, including child molesters.

In a letter to Attorney-General Robert Bonner, the federation asked what "was being done, what is being done and whether any money is included in the budget" for such facilities.

The federation first presented a brief seeking such a clinic in November, 1963. Mrs. Steves said, Mr. Bonner "gave us to understand he would be looking into it."

The federation repeated its request Nov. 25 this year in a brief to Premier Bennett and nine cabinet ministers.

Property Sought In Watershed

A firm offer of $15,000 will be made by the Greater Victoria Water Board for two parcels of land, comprising 175 acres, in the Goldstream watershed.

Meeting in city hall Thursday, members of the board, on recommendation of Commissioner Ronald Upward, agreed to bid for districts 42 and 43, part of the Sooke Lake and Goldstream watershed.

Mr. Upward explained that the purchase, if successful, would be part of the long-range land acquisition plan designed to prevent contamination on the watershed.

The property includes a dwelling, worth about $1,000, and timber valued at $1,000.

The people who own the property, an aged Victoria couple, would be allowed to use the land and the cabin they built upon it for five years or more, under terms of the offer.

Police Recover Stolen Jewelry

A cache of stolen watches and rings worth more than $4,000 was picked up by city police Wednesday.

Police withheld details of the used jewelry find including its location and circumstances. It has been identified as the total loot from a Nov. 14 theft from the Broad-Johnson Trading Centre, 617 Johnson.

The yeager who stole the jewelry lay in wait for store manager Abe Wise in his apartment at 2945 Quadra and beat him savagely before stealing the loot to the shop.

Mr. Wise, 36, was treated at hospital where 36 stitches were used to close his head wounds. He did not discover the key theft until after the watches and rings were removed.

Speed Restrictions Eased As Centre Lines Painted

Speed limit restrictions on the Trans-Canada Highway between Douglas Street and Thetis Lake Park was eased Thursday to 60 miles an hour.

The limit was dropped to 30 miles an hour on the 3.8-mile stretch of newly-paved highway as a safety precaution.

Wet weather had held up centre line painting operations and the unmarked road was cited as a partial cause of a Saturday head-on crash that injured five people.

Temporary lines have now been painted on the newly-widened highway.

Debate Vote

Tories Vs. Tories

OTTAWA (CP) — The government drew some support from all four opposition parties Thursday night in defeating by 129 votes to 35 a Conservative motion to adjourn the flag debate.

Five Conservative MPs broke with their party and voted against the motion. They were Leon Balcer, the Quebec leader, R. G. L. Fairweather (Royal), Remi Paul (Berthier-Maskinonge-Delaudiere), Gerard Girard (Lafayette) and Louis-Joseph Pigeon (Joliette-Ascompt-Montcalm).

LOVE LIBERAL
The 101 Liberals voting against the adjournment were joined also by nine New Democrats, eight Creditists and six Social Credit MPs.

The motion, introduced by C. S. Smallwood (PC—Battle River-Camrose), was endorsed by 34 Conservatives and Ralph Cowan (L—York-Humber), a Red Ensign supporter. (See also Page 3.)

Milestone 'Honor' Proposed

OTTAWA (UPI) — Credit-Union deputy leader Gilles Giguere Thursday proposed the award of "systematic obstruction" to a Conservative member of parliament who brought the flag debate to a new milestone as the 200th member to speak on the issue.

Mr. Giguere suggested the mark was akin to the 200th goal by a National Hockey League player.

Harold Danforth (PC—Kent) was the 200th speaker in the long debate.

"... I propose that we decorate the honorable member who is to be the 200th speaker on this subject, with the Order of Systematic Obstruction," said Mr. Giguere.

The House erupted in prolonged and derisive applause.

Buddhists Urge U.S. To Quit 'Dictator'

SAIGON (UPI) — South Viet Nam's powerful National Buddhist Association demanded Thursday that the United States withdraw its support of the month-old civilian government of Premier Tran Van Huong, because his regime had become a dictatorship.

"If the American government still wants to be trusted by the whole world and the Vietnamese people, then it should stop backing the bloodthirsty Tran Van Huong government right away, and not make any more excuses," the Buddhist communiqué said.

Air Raids Next

Wider Asia War 'Matter of Time'

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON (AP) — It looks here as if it will be only a matter of time before air raids are carried out against Communist Viet Cong infiltration routes outside South Viet Nam.

The anticipation here is the raids would be made by South Vietnamese Air Force planes, possibly with U.S. pilots aboard to accompany South Vietnamese crews, rather than U.S. Air Force planes.

DECISION MADE

Indications are the basic decision to go ahead with limited raids already has been made. Such raids are not likely to involve actual communities in North Viet Nam or the southern tongue of Laos, but would be against jungle supply depots in the mountains and valleys.

Statements from Washington have not clearly indicated raids are definitely planned. But the implication of plans for "urgent consultations" between U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor and South Vietnamese Premier Tran Van Huong is the U.S. STATEMENTS

U.S. is ready to back raids. Certainly Washington statements are seen by Saigon officials as meaning just this.

The South Viet Nam official news agency Thursday night lauded reported American plans for increased military support.

WITH AUTHORITY

Taylor is due back here this weekend after his consultations with President Johnson and top Washington officials. The feeling is he may be armed with authority to unleash South Viet Nam's increasingly powerful air force on targets outside South Viet Nam.

WARM RECEPTION

Whatever Taylor has in mind, he will get a warm reception from the Saigon government. The South Viet Nam news agency said:

"The Vietnamese government eagerly awaits Ambassador Taylor's imminent return to Viet Nam and is prepared to consider all measures to use the increased American aid."

City Divers Find Car Graveyard

VANCOUVER (CP) — Navy divers from Victoria have located an underwater graveyard for stolen cars at the base of a 250-foot cliff 12 miles north of here.

RCMP believe car thieves toppled the cars over the cliff for the thrill of seeing them splash into the Pacific.

RCMP called the navy after discovering tracks leading over the cliff edge.

Divers Wednesday found four and possibly five cars underwater.

To End UN Crisis

'RESCUE FUND' PRESSED

From UPI, CP

UNITED NATIONS — The 60-nation Afro-Asian group Thursday night backed the creation of a voluntary "rescue fund" which would avert a challenge to Russia's right to vote. There were indications the Soviet Union would support it.

The Afro-Asians approved at a caucus a set of principles which called for a moratorium for the duration of the present General Assembly session on the U.S.-Soviet confrontation over Soviet debts.

CANADA'S External Affairs Minister Paul Martin said he is confident the dispute over Russia's past debt to the UN will be settled by Christmas.

But he cautioned that long and difficult negotiations might be necessary to resolve underlying problems over control and financing of peace forces.

REDS WELING

U.S. official sources said Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, in discussing the issue with secretary of state Dean Rusk, had indicated a willingness to pay voluntarily into a "rescue fund" to meet the $120,000,000 deficit the United Nations is expected to face by Jan. 1.

Rusk was confident, on the basis of two talks with Gromyko, that Russia wants to find a way out of the political and financial crisis, the sources said. But they indicated that some sort of "make believe" must be found to enable Russia to pay up without losing face on its objection in principle to the peace-keeping assessments levied by the assembly.

Slayer Spared

Death Vote Coming

OTTAWA (CP) — The cabinet, in an 11th hour move, decided Thursday to let convicted killer Georges Marcotte stay alive and announced Parliament next session will be given an opportunity for a "free vote" on whether a capital punishment should be abolished in Canada.

Cabinet's decision to commute Marcotte's death sentence to life imprisonment followed one of the most bizarre murder cases in Canadian history.

Marcotte, 32-year-old former Montreal carpenter, was convicted of capital murder in the December, 1962, machine-gun slaying of one of two policemen in a bank holdup in St. Laurent, Que., near Montreal.

FOUR APPEALS
Since his conviction March 31, 1963, he has taken two appeals to the Quebec Court of Appeal and two to the Supreme Court of Canada. He has had three stays of execution.

Cabinet's move to commute his sentence to life in prison reversed two earlier decisions not to interfere with his execution.

Marcotte, convicted of the murder of Constable Claude Marneau, was scheduled to be hanged early today in Montreal's Boreau Jail. He also was charged but not tried for the capital murder of Constable Denis Brabant.

Cabinet's decision to let Parliament consider capital punishment at its next session means, in effect, no death penalty is likely to be carried out in Canada.

Fluoridation Directive Angers Health Board

Defeated

PENTICTON (CP) — The South Okanagan Union Board of Health in a statement wired Thursday to Health Minister Martin voiced exception to a directive from Victoria to cease promoting the benefits of fluoridation.

Crackdown Followed Complaints

Health Minister Martin said Thursday night he issued the directive following "very serious complaints" to Agriculture Minister Richter.

"We decided action must be taken," Mr. Martin said in an interview. He said the directive would not prevent the board from handing out information "on request."

"But civil servants are not supposed to involve themselves in matters of controversy or matters leading up to a vote of the people, especially matters as controversial as fluoridation," he said.

The city of Penticton will vote Dec. 12 on fluoridation of its water supply.

The Victoria directive was received Tuesday and was aimed at personnel of the South Okanagan health unit who have been actively campaigning for the fluoridation of Penticton's domestic water supply.

A fluoridation plebiscite is being held here in conjunction with the municipal election Dec. 12.

Notice of the directive was made public by Agriculture Minister Richter, MLA for Similkameen.

Mr. Richter stated that he "very much regretted the participation of public health personnel in the current fluoridation plebiscite issue in the South Okanagan health unit." He said it is not the duty of civil servants to actively campaign for such issues, using the authority of government to sway voters.

The union board of health, in an emergency meeting later, reaffirmed the strong position that it has always maintained that fluoridation prevents tooth decay.

Riots Protest

JAKARTA (Reuters) — Hundreds of Indonesian Communist Youth Front members clashed with police for nearly an hour today as they stormed the American cultural centre here.

The demonstrators were protesting the recent U.S.-Belgian rescue mission of foreign hostages held by rebel forces in the Congo.

Dryer

Federal Sea Boss Quits; No Comment

MONTREAL (CP) — Mr. Justice Victor Dryer has resigned as chairman of the federal board of maritime trustees, it was learned Thursday night.

"I have no comment and I have not made any statement," Mr. Justice Dryer said when reached on his return to Montreal from Vancouver.

The board took over five maritime unions, including the Seafarers' International Union of Canada and fired SIU president Hal Banks.

Mr. Justice Dryer has opposed demands by House of Commons members that the trustees appear before a parliamentary committee to answer questions about their mandate.

Boom Shatters Test

WHITE SAND MISSILE RANGE, N.M. — A jet fighter pilot who accidentally broke the sound barrier at an altitude of only 500 feet provided a much tougher test for the Federal Aviation Agency's sonic boom program than the agency had planned at a demonstration Thursday.

The booming shock wave generated by the air force F-104 blew two 12 by 7 foot plate glass windows out of a test building erected to resemble a store front. Fifteen panes of glass also were shattered in a medium sized greenhouse.

The metal building in which the briefing was being held trembled to its foundations. A glass ash tray fell from a window ledge next to Bain and shattered on the concrete floor.

"I would guess that is in the area of 2 pounds per square foot," said Bain, referring to the force of pressure on a structure by which sonic booms are measured.

However, when instruments and recordings were checked, the wave was calculated at 40 pounds per square foot.

That is 10 pounds more than the 30-pound maximum the structures were to be subjected to later this month and a whopping 10 times the pressure recorded during tests over Oklahoma City.

"This isn't a question of the pilot deliberately doing this," Bain said. "He was trying to help us and he gave us an experience we ought to appreciate."

City Hears Two Bangs

Two loud bangs heard throughout Victoria shortly before 3 p.m. Thursday could have been caused by American or Canadian military aircraft taking part in a "maximum training effort," said a McChord air force base official.

No population area ever would experience a boom like the one that hit White Sands Thursday, they said, because the pilot of a supersonic transport would never be supersonic under 40,000 feet.

The supersonic transport would be 100 to 150 miles from the airport before acceleration to supersonic speed," Bain said.

500 Christmas Fund

Victim of London Blitz Will Be Helped by Gift

A 24-year-old woman, whose mental development was retarded as the result of the London blitz and whose foster father deserted her, is one of those who will be helped by The Daily Colonist 500 Fund.

The 500 Fund has been set up to receive contributions, not for any long-term solutions, but to make Christmas a treat and not a mockery for those in desperate need.

The victim of the bombs of the last war lives with her mother and four-year-old brother. The brother is a child of her mother's second marriage, the first husband, the bomb victim's father, having been killed in a marine accident.

Your contribution may help these three — the deserted mother, her 24-year-old daughter and the four-year-old boy.

Donations to date:

Contributions to the fund last year meant a cash gift — no strings attached — of $24.75 to each of the 500 most needy.

This year one of your 500 gifts might go to the elderly woman from Alberta who came to the coast to retire with her husband four months ago. They found they could get by on their combined old age pension cheques.

But the husband died last month. The widow has not been here long enough to qualify for the additional $24 available to established residents in need.

In the anguish of her sorrow, in the depths of her need, your gift would show that someone cares, that she is in a community which extends warmth to newcomers.

Papal cheque for India's needy

'Are We Not One?'

Pope Bids For Unity

BOMBAY (AP)—Pope Paul VI joined Thursday in a fraternal and unprecedented session with non-Christian leaders, quoted Hindu scripture, cited a Hindu prayer and commended its use.

"We must come closer together," he told a gathering of about a dozen Moslem imams, Hindu swamis and guiding teachers of other Oriental faiths—Buddhists, Jains, Sikhs and Zoroastrian Parsees.

It was a dramatic and personal overture by the head of the Roman Catholic Church to advance its efforts for fuller concourse with all mankind, of various cultures, races and creeds.

Gazing about at the assembled Eastern spiritual leaders, garbed variously in white mantles, blue-and-red embroidered tunics and turbans, the Pope asked:

"Are we not all one in this struggle for a better world, in this effort to make available to all people those goods that are needed to fulfill their human destiny and to live lives worthy of the children of God?"

The pontiff said that all men must begin "to build the common future of the human race."

MEETINGS

It was the second day in India for the pope, welcomed here in a massive outpouring of people and warmth, and he spent the day in a series of meetings with various groups.

Although expressing appreciation for the Eastern religions, the pope also extolled Christ and His teachings.

Then the pope recited this Hindu prayer: "From the unreal lead me to the real. From darkness lead me to the light. From death lead me to immortality."

DIFFERENT AIM

The Vatican last spring set up a new secretariat of relationships with non-Christian religions. Its aim, to further practical collaboration and understanding with them, differs from the movement of the Roman Catholic Church and other Christians for actual unity.

One period of the pope's day was spent with leaders of non-Roman Catholic Christians in India—Protestant, Orthodox and Anglican Church men—whom the Pope addressed as "my dear friends in Christ."

GIFT TO POOR

The 67-year-old pontiff also rode through the city again, his route thronged with cheering crowds, for a 30-minute call on President Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan of India.

The Pope gave the president $30,000 for the poor of India. He was to have distributed this sum in Bombay slums but the visit was cancelled because of opposition for Hindu extremists. They saw it as a bribe to get the poor to embrace Christianity.

Nanaimo Defence Inspected

NANAIMO — Provincial civil defence officials inspected Nanaimo's emergency facilities Wednesday and discussed with Mayor Pete Maffeo communications and the operation of emergency sirens.

H. E. Solder, Nanaimo area civil defence co-ordinator, acted as guide for the group. In the party were J. H. Erb, provincial civil defence co-ordinator; Rex Hanley, emergency measures supervisor for B.C. Telephone; J. D. Macmillan, Victoria area civil defence co-ordinator; Lionel Hart, deputy civil defence co-ordinator for the province; and Major John Redmond, nuclear staff officer from Vancouver.

Nanaimo is one of 18 organized municipalities in the province with a civil defence plan.

Job Future Bright If Snow Holds Off

DUNCAN — The economic outlook of the Cowichan Valley is bright unless heavy snowfalls foul it up, the Cowichan Winter Employment Committee learned when the head of the local National Employment Service, R. S. Robinson gave his report Thursday.

He said a number of loggers from up-island, laid off because of snow, could be placed here. The logging industry and the mills in the Cowichan area are working at full capacity.

Last November, 280 men and 147 women were registered at his employment office, compared with 475 men and 145 women during the same period last year.

Mr. Robinson said an apprenticeship plan is being re-evaluated at the Crofton pulp and paper mill under which employees can become apprentices drawing the mill's base rate of pay.

A. Lowe, of the B.C. Cement Co. at Bamerton, said his company has such an apprenticeship plan including on-the-job training and a course at vocational schools.

North Cowichan Coun. Reginald Clegg reported his municipality will spend a total of more than $29,000 on winter works, including materials and wages.

North Cowichan winter works will consist of improvements to the utilities, forestry, parks and roads. He noted both senior governments will pay for the winter labor on a 50-50 basis, but the provincial government will only pay if the workers are on welfare.

school board on his committee said it is expected that tenders will be called soon on three projects: additions at a junior secondary and an elementary school, and construction of a new elementary school on Indian land which now belongs to the Cowichan school board.

Early Bid By Shanks For Votes

CAMPBELL RIVER—Neville Shanks is campaigning now for the next provincial election, which may be three years away.

The New Democratic Party candidate for Comox, who will be trying for the seat held by Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell, let it be known Thursday he is strictly a party line man.

"I'll accept anybody's vote, but only on the basis that I intend to promote wholeheartedly the program of the NDP. As long as I am candidate there will be no deals and no compromise," said Mr. Shanks.

He was commenting on a suggestion made recently by a UBC professor that opposition parties should unite in marginal constituencies such as Comox to "get rid of Social Credit."

PUMP HOUSE — The city of Duncan under the winter works plan will spend $5,730 on the construction of the second stage of a pump house on McKinstry Street.

Head of the social welfare branch at Duncan, R. T. Ferris said the biggest problem in welfare cases is advance age, but 20 out of 34 older people on his office payroll will be well suited for employment.

Will Dobson, winter employment committee chairman, who also represents the Cowichan

From Elk Falls

Cooley to Set Up Chilean Pulp Mill

Cooley

CAMPBELL RIVER — Engineer Ed Cooley, who played a key role in the establishment and expansion of Crown Zellerbach's pulp and paper mill at Elk Falls, is moving to South America to play a similar role in Chile.

Mr. Cooley will be in charge of construction and start-up of a new mill to be built by Crown Zellerbach International and a South American firm.

The new mill, with a 30,000-ton-a-year capacity, will be situated 200 miles south of Santiago.

Mr. Cooley was appointed resident engineer at Elk Falls in 1951, and assistant resident manager in 1954.

In 1957 he became chairman of the board of the hospital he helped to establish. He was chairman of the Vancouver Island Regional Council of the B.C. Hospitals Association.

In September this year he was named president of the provincial body but resigned Dec. 1 because of his transfer to South America.

Cobble Hill Woman Dies

COBBLE HILL — A resident here for the past 22 years, Elizabeth Feige, died at King's Daughters' Hospital, Dec. 2, in her 88th year.

She is survived by two brothers, William, at Duncan, and Henry, at Cobble Hill, and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be held from St. Edward's Catholic Church at 10 a.m. Saturday. Requiem mass will be celebrated by the Rev. F. Quinlan. Burial will follow at St. Ann's churchyard cemetery.

Lake Site Chosen For Arena

NORTH COWICHAN — Recommendation that an arena should be built on 40 acres of municipal land at Fuller's Lake was accepted by the North Cowichan Centennial Committee at a meeting Thursday.

The project was recommended by the North Cowichan Recreation Commission.

It was also agreed at the meeting that the Centennial committee would fully support financial participation of the municipalities in a similar project in the Duncan area.

Throwing Glass Costs Man $75

DUNCAN — Alan Thomas Edkins of Shawnigan Lake pleaded guilty in police court to depositing glass on the highway and was fined $75.

Police said Edkins was driving south on the Trans-Canada Highway near the Koksalah bridge, Oct. 20, when he threw a case of beer bottles on the highway when he was abreast of a big truck.

A fine of $130 was imposed on Earl Cecil South of Duncan, and his driver's licence was suspended for one year for failing to remain at the scene of an accident and for driving without due care and attention. South struck a parked car on Festubert Street Nov. 29, then fled from the scene.

Walking down Trunk Road with a bottle of beer earned Gordon Martin of Duncan a charge of consuming liquor in public and a fine of $50.

Police said he did not try to hide the bottle.

Oscar Jim of Duncan pleaded guilty to entering a private dwelling unlawfully, and was remanded seven days for sentence.

Two-Car Crash

Regina, Island Men Injured

NANAIMO — Two persons are in poor condition and two in satisfactory condition following a two-car collision about 12:30 p.m. Thursday on the Island Highway at Bowen Road, about three miles north of Nanaimo.

Gordon Scott of Regina, believed to be in his early 40s, is in poor condition with head injuries and shock and his wife is in satisfactory condition with leg, arm and shoulder injuries.

HEAD INJURIES

Michael Pek, 4850 Connaught Drive, Vancouver, is also in poor condition suffering from head injuries. The other occupant of the second car, Leslie Zickler, Pek's roommate, is in satisfactory condition with head lacerations. Both men, in their early 30s, are employees at the Port Alberni pulp mill.

Police said the Scott vehicle was crossing the Island Highway from Bowen Road when it was struck by the Zickler-Pek vehicle heading south on the highway. Mrs. Scott's leg was trapped in the badly damaged car and she had to be pried from the wreckage.

Police officers and employees at the police office were called to give blood to meet the emergency. Property damage may exceed $3,000.

Resident RCMP

Bonner Promises Parksville Probe

Investigation into the need for a resident policeman at Parksville has been promised by Attorney-General Bonner, a Parksville Chamber of Commerce spokesman said Thursday.

People in the village of Parksville, which has been policed from Qualicum since 1956, threatened to form their own store patrol after nine stores were broken into early Wednesday.

Anton Krypt, secretary-treasurer for the Parksville Chamber of Commerce, Ronald Thwaites, chamber president, and Vernon Humbley, met the attorney-general Thursday and asked to have RCMP stationed at Parksville.

LIVE THERE

If it is not possible to station men there, the group will be satisfied if one or two men lived there.

The group also spoke to their M.L.A., Municipal Affairs Minister Campbell, who promised he would get in touch with the attorney-general and report to the chamber before its meeting Tuesday.

1,600 PEOPLE

Parksville and its outskirts have a population of 1,600.

Since the detachment was moved to Qualicum eight years ago, efforts have been made from time to time to have the RCMP return.

Fumes Close School

MILL BAY — Some 220 students from the George Bonner Junior Secondary School, 11 miles south of Duncan, were kept home from school Thursday, while half a dozen school board workmen worked frantically to repair a suspected leak in the propane gas tanks at the school.

However, later in the day it was found that the fumes were from a blocked septic tank, and one of the workmen said it may take two or three days to repair the tank.

It was not known whether the students will be allowed back to school today, because the health inspector who investigated the situation Thursday said the fumes from the septic tank are almost as deadly as those from propane gas.

Four Choose Trial By Judge Alone

PORT ALBERNI — Four young men charged with having sexual intercourse with a girl under 16 have been committed for trial following a three-day preliminary hearing before Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts.

Robert Angus McGladrie, Thomas Holliday Livingstone, Gerrit Seinen and Douglas Richard Neurwith had elected trial by judge without a jury.

Robert Ohs appeared for the prosecution at the preliminary hearing and George Badovine for the defence.

A fifth man, Raymond Albert

Primeau, elected trial by magistrate and his case was heard by Magistrate W. E. MacLeod, who reserved his decision until Friday. William Beckingham acted as defence lawyer for Primeau, while Mr. Ohs conducted the prosecution.

Vancouver Firm Gets Road Job

DUNCAN — A $158,980 paving contract for a Trans-Canada Highway intersection here was awarded Thursday by the highways department to Standard General Construction (International) Limited of Vancouver.

The contract entails resurfacing of the highway at the Cowichan Lake Road junction, and the addition of curbs and gutters at the intersection.

'Plug the Holes'

Manufacturers Ask Changes In Labor Laws

New labor laws to plug the holes in existing legislation that showed up during the Port Alberni strike last summer were requested Thursday by the B.C. division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

The CMA brief presented to the cabinet Thursday asked for new curbs that would limit legal pickets to the plant where a strike or lockout is in progress, and for the elimination of "mystery pickets."

The seven-week strike by 49 office workers against MacMillan, Blodell and Powell River Co. at Port Alberni idled approximately 4,000 employees and resulted in some $14,000,000 in lost production and $3,500,000 in lost wages, the brief said.

"The . . . strike has pointed up what appears to be three deficiencies in the existing legislation," it said.

● The Trades Unions Act

at present does not adequately define the location at which legal strike action in the form of picketing may be instituted.

● A minority union group in a multi-union dispute should not be able to call a strike that could lead to the shut-down of the entire operation with the resultant loss of work to the majority of employees.

● No protection is provided for the individual employee who does not wish to join a particular union as a condition of employment or who is expelled from membership in or is expelled from a trade union.

'Ugly Situations'

Violence and what the CMA termed "ugly situations" which have grown out of recent B.C. labor disputes provide dramatic examples of the need to outlaw picketing except where legally authorized, the brief said.

The appearance during industrial disputes of "mystery pickets" should definitely be eliminated, it said.

These illegal pickets and the "mobs of troublemakers" that often appear with them, the brief said, have done much "to under-nine the intent of the Trade Unions Act and to stir up unnecessary industrial conflict."

"At present picket lines can be infiltrated by anti-unionists, rabble-rousers, or professional agitators. As unions are legally responsible for the illegal acts of pickets, unions should be protected against the danger of liability for the acts of unauthorized persons."

"Employers must also be protected from the unlawful acts of irresponsible persons," the brief said.

Avoid Economy Blows

The CMA said the magnitude of the loss resulting from the Port Alberni strike makes it clear "that remedial legislation is imperative if such blows to the economy of a particular area, and of the province, are to be avoided in the future."

The brief also:

● Congratulated the government for an "outstanding feat" of attracting 11 new pulp and paper installations to the province, and said the CMA is doing all it can to support efforts to attract new industry to B.C.

● Asked for exemption from social services tax on all machinery and materials used in the manufacture of goods.

● Urged establishment of an economic council for B.C., but added that the CMA was opposed to the formation of any such group which has the power to implement its recommendations regarding the planning of the economy.

● Recommended establishment of a high-level labor-management consultative committee to promote greater co-operation and understanding in labor relations.

Only Five Persons At Open Forum

NORTH COWICHAN — A record poor attendance of five members turned out at the Southern Ratepayers Association meeting Wednesday to hear four council candidates in an open forum and to discuss a motion asking for support of other groups in promoting amalgamation between Duncan and North Cowichan.

However, one association member felt amalgamation should not be rushed and Coun.

Debbie Hogan said considering the small turnout, the motion was "ridiculous."

Coun. Hogan, referring to the Fuller's Lake arena site said his North Cowichan Recreation Commission had no other choice for an arena as the municipality's centennial project because of government grant.

He admitted an area at Pioneer Park would have been a natural site but it could not be handled by North Cowichan alone.

WOULD BE SAD
He said it would be "sad" if certain disagreements between the northern and southern parts of North Cowichan would prevent the realization of the arena plan.

Bill Duyveaardt's main concern is an integration of the four municipal water systems of Maple Bay, Summers, Cowichan and Chemainus. Incumbent Coun. George Whittaker will do his best for a tax structure that will attract more industry, and Louis Shelling would like to see a planning consultant and later a fulltime municipal engineer.

For Cowichan School Votes

Old System Sought

COBBLE HILL — Former school trustee George Bonner said Thursday he will ask Education Minister Leslie Peterson to replace the present method of electing school trustees with the old representative system.

Mr. Bonner, former school board chairman and Cobble Hill area trustee, and Ross Marshall, a former trustee for the Shawinigan Lake area, both feel that the "old representative system" previously used in the Cowichan district is better than the system used today.

RURAL REPRESENTATIVES
Up until about six years ago, each district in the rural area with at least 50 children in school, elected one person to represent its district schools.

This made a total of 11 or 12 representatives, representing such areas as Glenora, Sahtlam, Cowichan Station, Bench, Mill Bay, Cobble Hill, Shawinigan Lake, Bayview, Sylvania and Koksilah.

FOUR TRUSTEES
From this group, four trustees were elected by the representatives to serve on the Cowichan school board.

The representatives met two or three times a year, and their main purposes were to elect trustees from amongst themselves by paper ballot, and to scrutinize the budget for the year.

NO ACCLAMATION

Mr. Bonner said that to his knowledge, no trustee was ever elected by acclamation. He stated that this system was more suitable than the present method of election where some trustees are not voted in by the public, but who automatically become or remain trustees because there is no contest.

With regard to the representatives' second purpose, Mr. Bonner said the budget was put before three groups before it was passed—the North Cowichan council, the Duncan City council and the representatives.

The representatives then had the authority to recommend alterations or pass the budget as they saw fit.

Both former trustees agreed that the representative group was a school for potential trustees. The members became familiar with the budget and administration of the school board before taking office as trustees.

Mr. Bonner, who was chairman of the board at the time of the change, said that he had been approached by Ray Williston, who was then minister of education, who requested that the board change to an election at large rather than by the representatives.

Mr. Bonner said he was promised by the minister that if the new system did not work out, the representative system would be reinstated.

HASN'T WORKED

"The new system has not worked, and I am going to apply to Education Minister Leslie Peterson to change back to the old system, as it was promised to me," said Mr. Bonner.

He also pointed out that under the present system often the trustee who is elected has a little more money than the other candidates. "Some candidates are able to spend money on advertising and handbills, whereas others cannot afford it," said Mr. Bonner.

Under the representative system, trustee candidates could not do this, he said.

Consultation Centres

Regional College Importance Stressed by Retiring Trustee

NANAIMO — Retiring school Trustee Jack Whitlam emphasized the importance of regional colleges as cultural and consultation centres in communities at a chamber of commerce dinner Wednesday.

UBC personnel under Dr. Leonard Marsh will report next year on the findings of their investigation into the advisability of establishing such a college somewhere on Vancouver Island north of Victoria. School boards from Duncan north are sharing in the cost of the study.

Pioneer Cheered At 97

Alberni Valley pioneer Harry Woodward, convalescing at St. Joseph's Hospital in Victoria after operation, celebrated his 97th birthday Thursday and received cake with 97 candles on it, held here by his daughter, Mrs. Ethel Dandy of Alberni and nurse Elaine Kendall. Number of relatives and friends attended Mr. Woodward's birthday celebration.

Lyons to Show Nature Film

Audubon lecturer C. P. Lyons will show the film Nature's Plans and Puzzles during the monthly meeting of the Victoria Natural History Society at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the Douglas Building cafeteria.

He emphasized that a regional college would play an important part in a community by offering counselling services for industry, business, community organizations and other educational institutions.

He defined a regional college as "a vocationally oriented" institute with courses that could lead to advanced university courses or better chances of employment.

He mentioned that if such a regional college was established on Vancouver Island it would offer forestry courses.

Reserves Plan

Driver Free On Bail

NANAIMO — A Vancouver man was freed on $250 bail after reserving his plea on an impaired driving charge.

Calvin W. Kellar was identified by police as the driver of a car which struck a steel pole at the intersection of Terminal Avenue and Comox Road, about 9 p.m. Wednesday.

DAMAGE $300

Passenger W. Kowath of Castlegar required treatment for head cuts. Police estimated damage at $300. Kellar is required to appear to enter a plea next week.

Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts backed up statements made by deputy Magistrate Eric Winch earlier this week promising heavier fines and longer licence suspensions for persons convicted of impaired driving.

Magistrate Beevor-Potts said he is in "full agreement" with this policy.

Lead Roles All Open

All principal roles in the Victoria Operatic Society's spring production of the Merry Widow are open and auditions are set for 8 p.m. Monday at CJVI.

The Lehár opera will be presented in the McPherson Playhouse May 11 to 15.

Rehearsals will start in January. Music director is Howard Denike. Cliff Clarke is stage director; Bebe Eversfield choreographer and Alex Cumming, producer.

Debate Vote

Tories Vs. Tories

OTTAWA (CP) — The government drew some support from all four opposition parties Thursday night in defeating by 129 votes to 53 a Conservative motion to adjourn the flag debate.

Five Conservative MPs broke with their party and voted against the motion. They were: Leon Baker, the Quebec leader; R. G. L. Fairweather (Royal); Remi Paul (Berthier-Maskinonge-Delaunaudiere); Gerard Girard (Labelle); and Louis-Joseph Pigeon (Joliette-L'Assomption-Montcalm).

LOVE LIBERAL

The 101 Liberals voting against the adjournment were joined also by nine New Democrats, eight Creditistes and six Social Credit MPs.

The motion, introduced by C. R. Smallwood (PC—Battle River-Camrose), was endorsed by 54 Conservatives and Ralph Cowan (L—York-Humber), a Red Ensign supporter. (See also Page 2.)

Milestone 'Honor' Proposed

OTTAWA (UPI) — Creditist deputy leader Gilles Durocher Thursday proposed the award of a "systematic obstruction" to a Conservative member of parliament who brought the flag debate to a new milestone on the 300th anniversary of the 1800th member to speak on the issue.

Mr. Durocher suggested the mark was akin to the 500th goal by a National Hockey League player.

Harold Diefenbaker (PC—Kent) was the 500th speaker in the long debate.

"... I propose that we designate the honorable member who is to be the 500th speaker on this subject, with the Order of Systematic Obstruction," said Mr. Durocher. The House erupted in prolonged and derisive applause.

Buddhists Urge U.S. To Quit 'Dictator'

SAIGON (UPI) — South Vietnamese Association National Buddhist Association demanded Thursday that the United States withdraw its support of the month-old civilian government of Premier Tran Van Huong, because his regime had become a dictatorship.

"If the American government still wants to be trusted by the whole world and the Vietnamese people, then it should stop backing the bloodthirsty Tran Van Huong government right away, and not make any more excuses," the Buddhist communiqué said.

500 Christmas Fund

Victim of London Blitz Will Be Helped by Gift

A 24-year-old woman, whose mental development was retarded as the result of the London blitz and whose foster father deserted her, is one of those who will be helped by The Daily Colonist 500 Fund.

The 500 Fund has been set up to receive contributions, not for any long-term solutions, but to make Christmas a treat and not a mockery for those in desperate need.

The victim of the bombs of the last war lives with her mother and four-year-old brother. The brother is a child of her mother's second marriage, the first husband, the bomb victim's father, having been killed in a marine accident. (See also Page 2.)

Your contribution may help these three — the deserted mother, her 24-year-old daughter and the four-year-old boy.

Donations to date:
$2,325.47

Contributions to the fund last year meant a cash gift — no strings attached — of $24.75 to each of the 500 most needy.

This year one of your 500 gifts might go to the elderly woman from Alberta who came to the coast four months ago. They found they could get by on their combined old age pension cheques.

But the husband died last month. The widow has not been here long enough to qualify for the additional $24 available to established residents in need.

In the anguish of her sorrow, in the depths of her need, your gift would show that someone cares, that she is in a community which extends warmth to newcomers.

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON (AP) — It looks here as if it will be only a matter of time before air raids are carried against Communist Viet Cong infiltration routes outside South Viet Nam.

The anticipation here is the raids would be made by South Vietnamese Air Force planes, possibly with U.S. pilots aboard to accompany South Vietnamese crews, rather than U.S. Air Force planes.

DECISION MADE

Indications are the basic decision to go ahead with limited raids already has been made. Such raids are not likely to involve actual communities in North Viet Nam or the southern tongue of Laos, but would be against jungle supply depots in the mountains and valleys.

Statements from Washington have not clearly indicated raids are definitely planned. But the implication of plans for "urgent consultations" between U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor and South Vietnamese Premier Tran Van Huong in the U.S. is ready to back raids.

U.S. STATEMENTS

Certainly Washington statements are seen by Saigon officials as meaning just this.

The South Viet Nam official news agency Thursday night lauded reported American plans for increased military support.

WITH AUTHORITY

Taylor is due back here this weekend after his consultations with President Johnson and top Washington officials. The feeling is he may be armed with authority to unleash South Viet Nam's increasingly powerful air force on targets outside South Viet Nam.

Shifting Loads Tip Trucks Prematurely

Defeated

Out as prime minister of Ceylon by one-vote margin in vote of non-confidence is Mrs. Sirimavo Bandaranaike. Government fell after opposition claimed it failed to solve economic problems. Parliament will be dissolved.

PENTICTON (CP) — The South Okanagan Union Board of Health in a statement wired Thursday to Health Minister Martin voiced exception to a directive from Victoria to cease promoting the benefits of fluoridation.

Crackdown Followed Complaints

Health Minister Martin said Thursday night he issued the directive following "very serious complaints" to Agriculture Minister Richter.

"We decided action must be taken," Mr. Martin said in an interview. He said the directive would not prevent the board from handing out information "on request."

"But civil servants are not supposed to involve themselves in matters of controversy or matters leading up to a vote of the people, especially matters as controversial as fluoridation," he said.

The city of Penticton will vote Dec. 12 on fluoridation of its water supply.

Anti-U.S. Riots

JAKARTA (Reuters) — Hundreds of Indonesian Communist Youth Front members clashed with police for nearly an hour today as they stormed the American cultural centre here.

The demonstrators were protesting the recent U.S.-Belgian rescue mission of foreign hostages held by rebel forces in the Congo.

The Victoria directive was received Tuesday and was aimed at personnel of the South Okanagan health unit who have been actively campaigning for the fluoridation of Penticton's domestic water supply.

A fluoridation plebiscite is being held here in conjunction with the municipal election Dec. 12.

Notice of the directive was made public by Agriculture Minister Richter, MLA for Similkameen.

Mr. Richter stated that he "very much regretted the participation of public health personnel in the current fluoridation plebiscite issue in the South Okanagan health unit." He said it is not the duty of civil servants to actively campaign for such issues, using the authority of government to sway voters.

The union board of health, in an emergency meeting later, reaffirmed the strong position that it has always maintained that fluoridation prevents tooth decay.

Dryer

Federal Sea Boss Quits; No Comment

MONTREAL (CP) — Mr. Justice Victor Dryer has resigned as chairman of the federal board of maritime trustees, it was learned Thursday night.

"I have no comment and I have not made any statement," Mr. Justice Dryer said when reached on his return to Montreal from Vancouver.

The board took over five maritime unions, including the Seafarers' International Union of Canada and fired SIU president Hal Banks.

Mr. Justice Dryer has opposed demands by House of Commons members that the trustees appear before a parliamentary committee to answer questions about their mandate.

Afro-Asians Back Fund

From UPI, CP

UNITED NATIONS — The 60-nation Afro-Asian group Thursday night backed the creation of a voluntary "rescue fund" which would avert a challenge to Russia's right to vote. There were indications the Soviet Union would support it.

The Afro-Asians approved at a caucus a set of principles which called for a moratorium for the duration of the present General Assembly session on the U.S.-Soviet confrontation over Soviet debts.

Canada's External Affairs Minister Paul Martin said he is confident the dispute over Russia's past debt to the UN will be settled by Christmas.

But he cautioned that long and difficult negotiations might be necessary to resolve underlying problems over control and financing of peace forces.

NEWS WELLED

U.S. official sources said Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, in discussing the issue with secretary of state Dean Rusk, had indicated a willingness to pay voluntarily into a "rescue fund" to meet the $120,000,000 deficit the United Nations is expected to face by Jan. 1.

Rusk was confident, on the basis of two talks with Gromyko, that Russia wants to find a way out of the political and financial crisis, the sources said. But they indicated that some sort of "make believe" must be found to enable Russia to pay up without losing face on its objection in principle to the peace-keeping assessments levied by the assembly.

Death Vote Coming

OTTAWA (CP) — The cabinet, in an 11th hour move, decided Thursday to let convicted killer Georges Marcotte stay alive and announced Parliament next session will be given an opportunity for a "free vote" on whether a capital punishment should be abolished in Canada.

Cabinet's decision to commute Marcotte's death sentence to life imprisonment followed one of the most bizarre murder cases in Canadian history.

Marcotte, 32-year-old former Montreal carpenter, was convicted of capital murder in the December, 1962, machine-gun slaying of one of two policemen in a bank holdup in St. Laurent, Que., near Montreal.

FOUR APPEALS

Since his conviction March 31, 1963, he has taken two appeals to the Quebec Court of Appeal and two to the Supreme Court of Canada. He has had three stays of execution.

Cabinet's move to commute his sentence to life in prison reversed two earlier decisions not to interfere with his execution. Marcotte, convicted of the murder of Constable Claude Maréchal, was scheduled to be hanged early today in Montreal's Boreaux Jail. He also was charged but not tried for the capital murder of Constable Denis Brabant.

Cabinet's decision to let Parliament consider capital punishment at its next session means, in effect, no death penalty is likely to be carried out in Canada.

Boom Shatters Test

WHITE SAND MISSILE RANGE, N.M. — A jet fighter pilot who accidentally broke the sound barrier at an altitude of only 500 feet provided a much tougher test for the Federal Aviation Agency's sonic boom program than the agency had planned at a demonstration Thursday.

The booming shock wave generated by the air force F-104 blew two 12 by 7 foot plate glass windows out of a test building erected to resemble a store front. Fifteen panes of glass also were shattered in a medium sized greenhouse.

The bomb-like roar came just as Gordon Bain, the FAA's deputy administrator for supersonic transport development, was telling newsmen that, in his opinion, many persons who claimed their property was damaged during FAA sonic boom tests in Oklahoma City last spring had only imagined the damage.

The metal building in which the briefing was being held trembled to its foundations. A glass ash tray fell from a window ledge next to Bain and shattered on the concrete floor.

"I would guess that it is in the area of 22 pounds per square foot," said Bain, referring to the force of pressure on a structure by which sonic booms are measured.

CITY HEARS TWO BANGS

Two loud bangs heard throughout Victoria shortly before 3 p.m. Thursday could have been caused by American or Canadian military aircraft taking part in a "maximum training effort," said a McChord Air Force Base official.

However, when instruments and recordings were checked, the wave was calculated at 40 pounds per square foot.

That is 10 pounds more than the 30-pound maximum the structures were to be subjected to later this month and a whopping 10 times the pressure recorded during tests over Oklahoma City.

"This isn't a question of the pilot deliberately doing this," Bain said. "He was trying to help us and he gave us an experience we ought to appreciate."

NO POPULATION AREA EVER

No population area ever would experience a boom like the one that hit White Sands Thursday, they said, because the pilot of a supersonic transport would never be supersonic under 40,000 feet.

"The supersonic transport would be 100 to 150 miles from the airport before acceleration to supersonic speed," Bain said.
